

A Reporter at Sea in Pacifica's DUKW

By LOIS McNALLY

There is one way to really appreciate the unique beauty of Pacifica, but it takes a little courage to do it. Just go to sea in the DUKW.

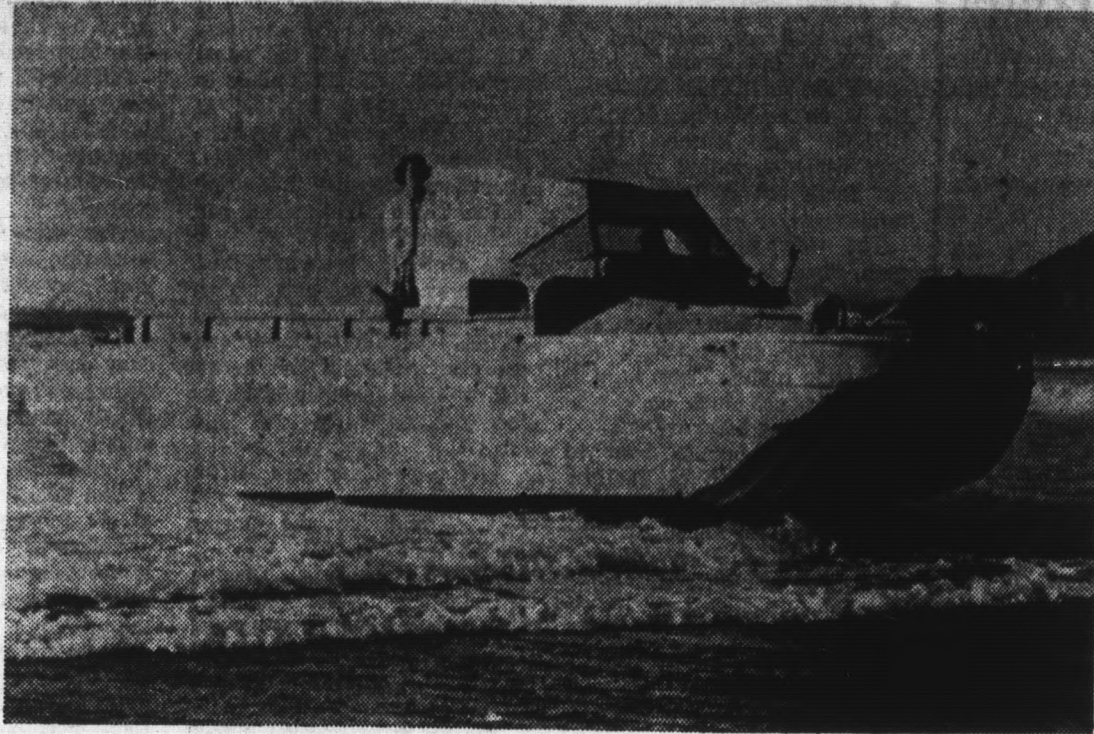

The DUKW is not at all like a duck. It's an amphibious truck that made its reputation landing American troops on beaches in World War II.

Pacifica's DUKW has no such romantic past. Built for the Marine Corps, it was never used and was being stripped for parts when Pacificans Phil DoDinner and Chris Bonner bought it for $550 at a government auction two years ago.

After much hard work and $2500 worth of parts, the DUKW became seaworthy and soon was on its way to becoming a Pacifica institution.

"Pacifica is an ideal place to operate a DUKW," says Chris. He explains there is no place to dock craft in the city. About the only way to go to sea in Pacifica is in a DUKW straight out through the surf.

The trip begins (and somehow this is appropriate if you know Pacifica) in the corporation yard of the Linda Mar sewage treatment plant where the DUKW is parked.

CORRESPONDENT McNALLY ABOARD THE DUKW

Like most hybrids, this half-truck, half-boat is clumsy and ungainly looking. In spite of its fresh coat of white paint, it lacks the trim sleek lines of a boat, yet also lacks the massive look of a serious heavy-duty truck.

With a great roar and rumble, the motor starts and off you go down the narrow winding unpaved road to the beach, past the gawking stares of swimmers, beachcombers and horseback riders.

At Councilwoman Jean Fassler's beachfront home, Chris pauses to wave. "Jean loves the DUKW," he says, "she comes out with us a lot."

On the beach, the DUKW turns and points its ugly flat nose toward the surf. "You had better come up front in the cab," says Chris. "We go right through the waves and under them. It gets pretty wet and sometimes the back fills up with water."

Pedro beach is well-suited for launching a DUKW, he explains. The sand is packed tight and the beach is sheltered. Pedro Point blocks off the worst of the waves and wind.

There is a brief feeling of nightmare — a car plunging into the ocean and sinking — the waves thunder and splash up over the cab and a sudden downpour slicks down your hair and soaks your clothes. You can taste the salt spray.

Then the propeller is turning, the heavy 270 GMC engine is making a dreadful din, you bob about like a cork and you are

POST OPEN HOUSE

We're About to Throw a Party

We're going to have a party!

Well, not exactly a party—more precisely, an open house gathering here in the offices of The Post.

And if you're the publicity chairman or the representative of any organization in the Daly City, Westlake, or Pacifica area, you're invited to attend.

It's going to be held from 10 a.m. to noon Saturday, September 7. That's the time, hopefully, when all of our North County readers are back from vacation and getting their youngsters ready for school.

The idea behind the get-together (which, incidentally, will be embellished by coffee and donuts) is to acquaint you with how we get on. The Post each week and what you can do to help us.

Big feature of the open house will be talks by members of our editorial staff on preparing news releases, what sort of pictures we're interested in, our deadlines—in short, what you need to know to keep us—and therefore our readers—informed of your group's activities.

In addition to the talks, we'll be passing out information-crammed publicity kits.

Remember the date, then: Saturday, September 7, from 10 a.m. to noon here in the offices of The Post at 30 Park Plaza drive in the Westlake Shopping center.

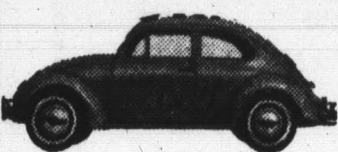

We hope to see you then.

High School Boundaries Change Seen

By DON MILLER

The convenient arrangement wherein students graduating from Jefferson Elementary district schools enter high schools in the same neighborhood can't be expected to continue indefinitely, the board of trustees of the Jefferson Union High School district was told Monday night.

Superintendent Edward D. Morgan warned that rising enrollments in the high schools will eventually force the district to "jockey our boundaries" to distribute the total enrollment evenly throughout the schools.

He made the comment during a discussion on negotiations over new school sites both in the Crocker lands and the Christen Ranch lands.

"It's probably safe to say," Morgan told the board, "that by the time the year is out we'll have acquired or will be in the process of acquiring not only a Crocker site but a Christen site as well."

Morgan then noted that "up until now we've been very fortunate in allowing our elementary kids to go into high schools in their neighborhoods." But he added:

"The day will be coming when we won't be able to do that. And when it does, we'll have a few more people at our meetings. We'll have to jockey our boundaries."

Morgan said that both Jefferson and Westmoor High schools will reach their capacity in the coming school year.

In other matters, he reported that construction has begun on an addition to Terra Nova High school that will provide a third floor for the main classroom building, a dining room and kitchen facilities, an auxiliary gymnasium and extensions to locker rooms.

The district has a contract with the Martinelli Construction company, calling for completion of the work by August 19 of next year.

Cost of the project will be $875,000. (Please See Page 2, Column 2)

His Haircut Nearly Cost Him $500

Restaurateur Victor Falgiano almost had a $500 haircut Thursday.

The owner of the Hotsy Totsy club in San Francisco who lives at 1184 Eighty-seventh street, Daly City, was sitting in a barber's chair in the Westlake Shopping center when his leased car was stolen.

In the rear of the auto was a bag containing $500 in change for his business.

Falgiano discovered the theft when he left the barber shop. Shortly before midnight Thursday, San Francisco police arrested a 16-year-old San Francisco youth after a hot chase. The youth was driving the stolen car. The $500 was found intact in the vehicle.

Jefferson Demolition Is Complete

The demolition of the old Jefferson High school building has been completed, Edward D. Morgan, Jefferson Union High School district superintendent reported Monday night.

He told trustees that as far as he could determine, the demolition had been finished only one day after the scheduled completion, which was last Wednesday.

At its last meeting, the district's board of trustees had been informed by architects that the demolition would not be completed and thereby the construction of new facilities for Jefferson might be delayed.

Morgan said Monday that he had toured the Jefferson site. He told the board:

"I was exceedingly pleased with what I saw. Everything (the old building) was gone. From a visual appearance, it looked very, very good."

In a related matter, he told the board that vandalism at the school had been halted by the hiring of a watchman.

D.C. Adopts Its Budget; Tax Rate to Remain Same

The Daly City council Monday night passed a $3,589,069 budget that kept the tax rate at $1.48 per $100 assessed valuation for the third consecutive year.

The rate stayed the same despite a $399,673 increase over last year's budget.

The budget includes expenditures and revenues associated with the recently annexed Bayshore City area.

City Manager Edward Frank credited "strict budgetary control and proper legislation by the council" for the steady tax rate.

Salaries amounted to approximately 50 per cent of the budget, he said.

This includes pay for an increase of 11 persons to the police department, five in all other services and a reduction of two in the library.

"Of these, 16 are necessary for services in the Bayshore area," Frank said.

A capital outlay of $649,680 is planned in the next fiscal year and $194,774 will remain in the reserve and contingencies fund.

Emphasis in capital outlay will be placed on the park and recreation department, Frank said. (Please See Page 2, Column 7)

DEVELOPERS LAUDED

Daly City to Double Size

By RON BATES

Daly City took the first step in the annexation of the 916-acre Christen Ranch Monday. A public hearing was set for October 14.

It is estimated the move will almost double the size of Daly City and its assessed valuation.

The Suburban Realty company, developers of the property, formally petitioned for annexation after a public presentation at the Daly City council meeting Monday night.

The information session, attended by approximately 100 residents, lasted over two hours.

Mayer Verducci, Verducci and the reasoning for annexation of the area had been "accelerated" because of two factors:

First, a state bill, effective September 20, will take all matters of annexation and incorporation out of the jurisdiction of local councils and place them under a county commission composed of two supervisors, two county mayors, and a fifth person representing the public at large.

Second, South San Francisco has initiated action to annex the uninhabited portion of Westborough and Daly City officials fear a move by the industrial city to annex the Christen lands.

"This annexation commission will take this matter of the Christen Ranch out of the hands not only of the council, but also of the people," Verducci said.

"We feel we know more about it than would a board of five people who aren't affected—and we're more concerned about it than they would be."

City Attorney Paul Hupf said the powers of the new board are not clearly defined yet because it is a new law.

He said the possibility of litigation between cities over property could be tied up in court for years.

"Despite the acceleration of the Christen annexation, the (development) plan is still very complete," he said.

Concerning South San Francisco's intentions, Verducci said: "This property is very attractive to them also. Fortunately the developers have preferred to annex to Daly City."

Verducci said he believes the annexation of the uninhabited portion of Westborough was spearheaded by South San Francisco city officials who were including the Christen properties in their plans.

He said some of the Christen (Please See Page 2, Column 1)

Facts and Figures on Annexation

Here are some of the facts and figures of the Christen Ranch development.

Construction will begin in the southern part of the development in the latter part of 1964.

The Christen Ranch is 916 acres. Of this 320 acres are planned for residential development, 90 acres for schools, 190 acres for commercial development, 200 acres in freeways and the remainder in such uses as parks, service and city facilities.

Only 85 per cent of the land is useable.

A massive "weather-proof" regional shopping center covering approximately 84 acres will be built at the junction of the proposed Junipero Serra and Cabrillo freeways. By comparison, the Hillsdale shopping center covers 37 acres.

Estimated annual income from residential and commercial development is estimated at $1,262,000. Estimated cost to the city of services is $375,000.

The city will receive $35,000 a year in taxes on the undeveloped (Please See Page 2, Column 1)

Coast Hosts Argentine Boy

MAKING a dizzying switch this week from a home high in the Andes Mountains to one with a sweeping view of the Pacific Ocean is young Julio Cornaglia, Pacifica's first American Field Service exchange student.

Julio, 17, arrived Saturday afternoon on a flight from Miami and was met by Mr. and Mrs. Don Miller of 139 Blackburn Terrace on Pedro Point. They will be his hosts for a year while he attends Terra Nova high school.

A quiet, scholarly boy, Julio's academic interests include literature, psychology and philosophy. He likes to write poetry and wants to become a teacher.

His mother is a teacher. His father was a principal of a school in their home town of

JULIO CORNAGLIA Here for Year

San Carlos de Bariloche before he became a government civil servant.

In his application to AFS, Julio said:

"The United States are the golden gates which I so eagerly want to open for me." His only previous foreign travel before coming to the United States was "one kilometer into Chile."

Julio's first day was a busy introduction into American life. He went with the Millers' sons, Clint and Donald, to Princeton Beach where the sons are building a sailboat; toured Terra Nova high school where he was impressed with its modern architecture, tossed a baseball and threw a baseball, with the Millers coaching — and then went swimming at Shelter Cove.

MONDAY morning he held a press conference with Bob Hernandez, last year's student body president at Terra Nova high school and now a student at San Jose State, acting as interpreter. A Spanish-American dictionary was open beside him.

Mrs. Miller says that Julio reads and writes English very well and understands quite a bit—but is initially having difficulty expressing himself in the language.

Of an age between the two Miller boys (Clint, a sophomore at College of San Mateo and Donald, a sophomore at Terra Nova), young Julio is adjusting well to his new family.

Mrs. Miller says he eats just like her own boys—"plates and plates."

Ban on 'For Sale' Signs Is Sought

A request to ban "For Sale" signs that often sprout in profusion on front lawns in Pacifica, will be presented to the city council tonight by the Pacifica-Coastside Board of Realtors.

In a petition to the council, president Charles Fisher is asking for an ordinance "prohibiting real estate agents' sign of any sort within or without residential real estate property up to and including four units."

Hearing Set On Christen Annexation

planners were advocating annexation to South San Francisco.

Monday night's presentation was made by John Nordmark of Wilsey, Ham and Blair, a planning firm hired by Suburban Realty company to develop the master plan for the area.

Hupf said it was "the most complete land use plan ever presented to the city."

He said if the annexation is successful, the zoning of the property would be set according to the plan that was presented Monday.

"This annexation differs quite significantly from the Callen annexation," Hupf said. "The proposed uses of the (Christen) land are the result of extensive plans and studies. No such effort was made in the Callen move."

He said the planning firm has gone as far as studying roads and road patterns.

The developer's economists estimate that once the property is fully developed with a large regional shopping center, the city will receive an annual income of $602,000 in property taxes and $600,000 in sales taxes.

The cost to the city of servicing the area would be $375,000.

Finance Director Joseph Arch said the developer's estimate is "conservative" and does not include such added income as motor vehicle taxes, in lieu taxes, building fees, fines, or other state subventions.

"We are talking about an area almost the size of Daly City, which will bring in about the same amount of revenue with 35,000 people less," he said.

Arch said the present city staff of Daly City will be able to handle the additional load during the first two critical years.

Verducci said no tax increase would be necessary because of the annexation.

City Engineer William Chapman also praised the planners' thoroughness.

He said the planners not only studied their own land but also all the area around it so that the roads, water lines, sewers and other facilities could be worked into Daly City with no problems.

"You know that when a street curves, it curves for a reason," he said.

Chapman said the developers used planners, economists' and engineers' design for the community.

"They know how much money is in the area and how much is spent," Chapman said. "There is a big vast plain between the two figures which indicates the large regional shopping center can be supported."

Chapman said the city will be receiving three water storage tanks in the area, correcting "somewhat of a water storage deficiency" in Daly City.

That Terra Nova Night Swim Halts

That strictly illegal night-time swimming in the Terra Nova High school pool has been halted, a trustee of the Jefferson Union High school district reported Monday night.

James Cooper told his colleagues on the board that police surveillance and the bright glare of publicity have combined to disuade nocturnal ventures into the pool by teen-agers.

Earlier this month, Dr. Harold Tonini, Terra Nova principal, advised both the board of trustees and the Pacifica Park, Beach and Recreation department of the "dangerous practice" that youths—and even some adults—were following by swimming in the pool at unauthorized hours.

He reported then that beer bottles, cans and other debris had been found in the pool several mornings.

Subsequently, Police Chief Neil Tremaine announced that the pool would be closely watched.

Monday night Cooper reported to the board:

"I think the night swimming has been stopped completely." He said that police previously had been picking up children at the pool at night, taking them to their parents.

To Sea in the DUKW

The skill of operating a DUKW is in coming in and out of the surf, Chris explains. He is an ex-Marine, like the DUKW, and learned about surf while operating amphibious tanks out of Treasure Island.

The view towards Pacifica from about a mile out at sea in the DUKW is remarkably uncluttered. Once you get out beyond the surfboarders, you feel quite alone. There is only an occasional duck or a seagull sweeping by.

It takes about an hour to cruise the length of Pacifica from south to north at about ten miles an hour in the DUKW.

Chris rolls back the small sunroof and sits on top of the cab, smoking a cigarette, steering the DUKW lightly with one foot.

"See how pretty Pacifica is from out here," he says. And as he talks, Pedro beach shines clear and white with all its trash and litter visible.

"If only they could clean the beaches up," says Chris, "and plant a few trees and some shrubs and have some pathways, it could be beautiful."

Like many other Pacificans, Chris dreams of a breakwater and small boat harbor at Pedro beach for recreational yachting and fishing. "This is the only real industry Pacifica will ever have," he says.

"Right off Pedro Point is great for salmon and the bass runs down here off the coast are famous. The only place to launch a fishing boat is at Captain Valentine's (a 50-year-old institution on the Point). There is a slide and if the tide and surf are right, boats can be launched."

On a clear, blue sunny day, the view of Pacifica's brown hills, mountains and rugged cliffs is breathtaking if you can get your mind off the heavy rolling from side to side as the ocean waves hit the DUKW.

As the boat lumbers north, you pick out landmarks: old Mori's Point Inn, the quarry and the golf course.

The blue curve of Oceana High school blends strikingly into the curve of the hills and the new ocean-side apartments in Sharp Park look clean and bright.

The shoreline erosion, which threatens homes along the Esplanada in Pacific Manor, is very apparent from out on the ocean.

The cliffs plunge straight down and the little houses on top sit perilously close to the edge.

Looking north the Marin hills are slightly hazy. Westlake Terrace houses marching down the hill like building blocks mark the northern boundary of Pacifica.

From a mile out at sea and looking at Pacifica, the hills, sandy beaches, white surf and deep blue ocean dominate.

The houses visible look very small and fit attractively into the landscape. There is no distracting view of freeway construction or bumper to bumper traffic.

"The view of Devil's slide is really rugged and beautiful," says Chris, "though the sea is a little choppy there."

Pedro Point rises dramatically out of the sea, the rocky cliffs seem enormous when the DUKW chugs beneath them back to Pedro Beach.

Coming in through the surf is like going out, you are apt to get a bit wet. With Chris' experienced hand, the DUKW is soon out of the waves and rumbling and grumbling up the beach.

It did get stuck in the sand one time in Half Moon Bay, but neither Phil Donner nor Chris were operating it.

The DUKW had a brief career last year as an excursion boat, and was especially popular with fishermen but the Coast Guard, which licenses commercial boat operators, frowned on the hybrid and stopped its activities saying it was too dangerous traveling in and out of the surf.

Bonner and Donner operate it now as a private pleasure craft, except when called out for rescue work.

Tax Rate to Stay Same and there will be continued improvements in the water department, streets and the corporation yard.

proved the hiring of a new director of personnel. He is Jack Hanley, who for the past five years has been superintendent of schools in Sebastopol.

Also hired was a new vice principal for Upper Colma school, Joel Franz. He formerly taught and was a dean of boys in the Fresno school system.

The district authorized the sale of its former administration offices at 123 Knowles avenue. It set a minimum price of $15,500 for the building.

Approved was a bid for the installation of partitions in four rooms at Colma school. The Papco company of San Francisco was the low bidder at $7,238.

Grandfather Ruled Insane In Murder

Anthony McCoy, accused of murdering his 2-year-old grandson, was found not guilty Friday.

Superior Judge Frank W. Rose ruled that the 52-year-old Daly City man was insane at the time of the killing and is insane at the present time.

He ordered McCoy to be sent to the state hospital at Atascadero and to be held until he regains his sanity.

McCoy beat the boy, Robert Salas, to death with a hammer last June 14 and then tried to kill himself by slashing his wrists.

He told investigators he killed the child because he felt the youngster was being neglected by his mother, Mrs. Maureen Salas. Mrs. Salas, a divorcee, is McCoy's daughter.

McCoy was examined by four psychiatrists. Two opined that he was insane. The other two said they felt he was legally sane, but one of them said McCoy was mentally ill.

On the basis of the reports, Judge Rose held that McCoy was not responsible for the slaying.

McCoy told the doctors that when he was hitting the boy with the hammer, he imagined he was beating his daughter.

NOT AT DANCE

She Sold Ticket In the Courtroom

A story in last week's special Bayshore Edition of The Post-Times about Mrs. Charles Stuvengen of 106 MacDonald Avenue in Bayshore City got a bit mixed up.

Mrs. Stuvengen was secretary for the Bayshore City Citizens' committee.

The story said she sold a turkey raffle ticket for a fund-raising dance to Brisbane City Attorney Conrad Reich at a dance.

Actually, Mrs. Stuvengen sold Reich the ticket during a courtroom proceeding on Brisbane's move to annex part of Bayshore industrial property.

Later, when Reich was chided at a Brisbane council meeting by other city officials, the good-natured attorney replied: "I hope I win the turkey."

Mrs. Stuvengen in one of the newer residents in Bayshore who worked hard for the annexation. She and her husband moved there four and a half years ago.

She had legal training as a secretary and was "volunteered by her friends" to take the committee position at one of the early meetings.

"I enjoyed the job very much and learned a lot from it," she said. "I got to know the community quite a bit better."

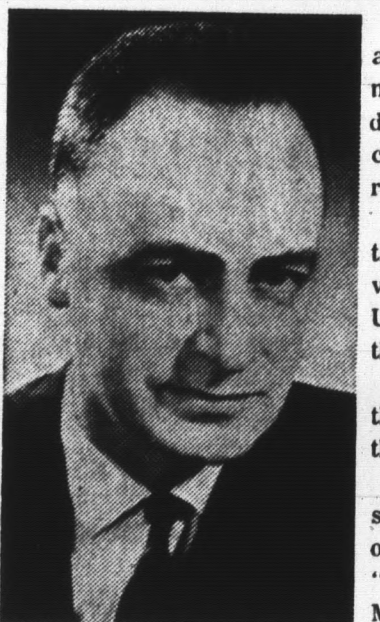

MRS. CHARLES STUVENGEN Sold a Ticket

She put in a good deal of time typing stencils for material the committee sent out in its campaign to annex to Daly City.

She has written letters about the annexation to several newspapers and magazines, and has attended several court sessions and council meetings to keep track of developments of the proceedings for the committee.

D.C. Rotary Club Will Hear Du Pont Official

LEAVITT S. WHITE

Leavitt S. White, Pacific manager of the E. I. du Pont de Nemours and company's extension division, will address the Rotary club next Wednesday in the Friar room of the Serra Bowl.

He will present an address entitled, "Growth Unlimited," a review of factors that have spurred United States economic growth in the past.

In his talk, he will show how these factors may be applied to the present decade.

White has been with Du Pont since 1941. He is a former editor of the company's two magazines, "Better Living" and the "Du Pont Magazine."

He is a graduate of Harvard and has traveled widely throughout the country to speak before groups of editors, businessmen and educators.

He makes his headquarters in Palo Alto.

Fire Ruins Apartment

A two-alarm fire of undetermined origin swept through an apartment at 80-C Westlake Avenue in Daly City Sunday morning, causing an estimated $500 damage to the building and contents.

The apartment is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Freeman. Firefighters said flames apparently started in a living room closet. The fire spread throughout the apartment.

It was discovered by Mrs. Freeman. The first alarm was turned in at 8:06 a.m. and the second five minutes later.

Included in the loss was an $800 stereo system, which was completely destroyed.

Firemen said the loss estimate included $3000 to the building and $2500 to the contents.

Adjoining apartments were not damaged, firemen said.

Program Set At Westmoor

Ninth grade students and all other students new to Westmoor High school will meet in the school gymnasium Tuesday at 8:30 a.m.

The morning's activity will include welcome talks by Larry Seigel, student body president and Glenn South, principal. Briefing on student activities, attendance and discipline procedures and the school day will precede a question and answer session and an informal tour of the campus.

Placement tests and programming also are planned for students transferring from other school districts.

Pacifica Plans Race Seminar

"Race and Residence" will be the subject of three public forums sponsored by the North Coastside Community Council, a United Crusade service organization in Pacifica, reports Mrs. Charles Olsen, spokesman for the council.

The first panel, September 23, will explore the effect of minority influx on real estate values and community life.

The October 23 meeting will focus on specific problems of the segregated community in preparing for integration. The November 25 forum will examine the Negro revolution and the responsibility of the entire Bay Area.

Authorities in the fields of race relations and real estate have accepted invitations to speak in the almost totally segregated community, thus completing preparation of a program which caused sharp debate among members of the council.

It had been a suggested topic for a number of years, but was voted down for being untimely and disruptive until last spring.

The majority of members justified its inclusion on the grounds that real estate value in Pacifica augurs for minority settlement and that peaceful integration is the responsibility of the community council.

The present pattern of settlement in Pacifica finds Negroes in one tract only, while moderately priced homes and tracts developed by others have no Negroes.

Members of the planning committee are Dorothy Edminister, acting chairman for Dr. David K. Marvin, George Triglano, Gilbert West, Larry and Barbara Young, Monica Isen, Howard Edminister, Paul Hansen, and Frances Marvin.

Pacifica Mulls Gas Tax Pool

With many local street projects crying for attention, Pacifica city councilmen have decided to think twice before contributing the city's additional gas tax money toward a county-wide road building pool.

Pacifica's Mayor Harold Feyge said his city is seeking more information about what type of "select" street projects would qualify in a proposed city-county road building master plan.

Increased gas tax funds will be available as a result of the Collier bill raising the state gasoline tax from six to seven cents a gallon.

San Mateo county mayors recently passed a resolution urging that this additional tax money be put into a common fund and that projects planned as part of the Nolte report and deferred by the defeat in June of the city-county's road bond issue be used as a priority list.

Feyge pointed out at the council meeting last week that 60 percent goes to maintenance, particularly of Pacifica's extensive unimproved streets.

He said that Pacifica's participation in the county-wide road program would have to depend on how priorities are to be determined.

City Manager Karl Baldwin has said that the additional gas tax funds are needed to improve Pacifica's streets serving as collectors, funneling traffic onto the state coastal freeway now under construction.

Also needed is maintenance work on major city streets not adjacent to the freeway, but feeding the flow of commuter traffic, such as Teraita and Adobe drive.

The council has already approved the spending of $87,903 of the regular state highway gas tax fund for improvement and maintenance of local streets.

The sum of $30,036 was budgeted for the maintenance of city streets and an addition $3000 for improvement of Adobe drive ($10,000 was budgeted last year). The sum of $40,000 for the improvement of Palmetto avenue and $3333 for bus stop ramps on the coastal freeway were allotted. In an agreement with the state, the city of Pacifica will eventually pay $2000 out of gas tax funds for the bus stop ramps.

Eleven thousand dollars was not appropriated for any specific projects, but was put in a reserve fund for later maintenance work.

FOR NEW ROADS

Mayors Plan Fund Study

The San Mateo county council of mayors last week pushed ahead with plans for study of a new county road fund with moneys which will be received as a result of the recent one-cent gas tax increase.

The road study was given a vote of confidence after two mayors indicated they would not endorse the plan.

The mayors overwhelmingly supported a motion by Menlo Park Mayor William R. Lawson to petition the county to direct funds for roads to only those cities which would co-operate in a county-wide plan.

Atherton Mayor John Licata said that during the six years he was chairman of the streets committee in his city the county had made no effort to co-operate on street projects in Atherton.

"We have a program now to improve Alameda de las Pulgas," he said, "and all we have asked the county for is $50,500, half of the cost."

Licata said it could easily fit into the Nolte plan for roads and eliminate a "hazardous condition" which exists for one mile.

"Until we see some support from the county on this, we will reserve action on the road fund plan," Licata said.

The other objector, Brisbane's Jim Williams, said he would vote against the plan because of "past performances."

Brisbane and Atherton were joined by Half Moon Bay in their vote against Lawson's proposal.

Maurice Hamilton, former mayor of San Bruno, said he saw no objection to a study, but felt the original resolution which was passed last month by the mayors' council should not set forth what the committee should study.

"I would like to see the county road plan resubmitted as a bond issue," Hamilton said.

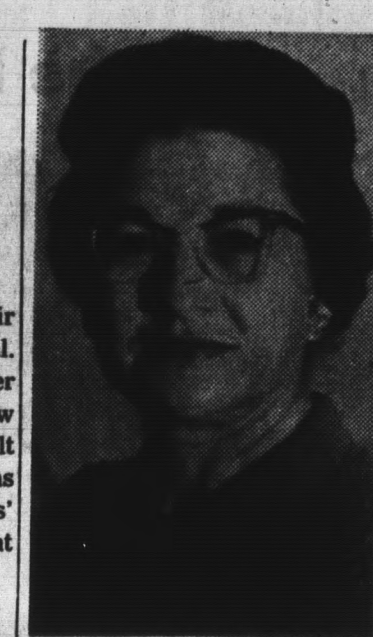

He said a poll at the San Mateo County Fair and Fiesta had indicated that people were aware of the transportation problems in the county and wanted something done about them.

Council chairman Joseph Verducci, Daly City mayor and author of the resolution, said he did not think that resubmitting the defeated June bond issue would do any good.

"We were beaten so badly that a bond issue on county roads is through for a long time," Verducci said. "This (the road fund) is a substitute measure."

Verducci said the purpose of the study is to "find out what we can get with the money we can get."

"Transportation and traffic are important factors in attracting industry to the county," he said. "If we don't do anything at all, we'll be derelict in our duties as mayors."

MRS. FRANK KELECHAVA of 141 Windsor drive has been elected chairman of the Daly City Library commission. She succeeds Mrs. Andrew Hanselman. Named secretary was Mrs. U. R. Kendree.

Screams Scare Off Attacker

The frightened screams of a 16-year-old Daly City girl frightened off a would-be attacker early Sunday morning as she was walking near her home with a girl friend.

Georgette L. Pelaez of 21 Risel street told police a man about 25 years old came up behind her, threw an arm around her neck and pressed what appeared to be a knife against her back.

She said she screamed and the thug released his grip and darted away.

Orientation Day Planned For Jeff High Students

Entering ninth grade students and all other students new to Jefferson High school will meet in the school gymnasium at 8:30 a.m. Tuesday.

Meetings with student leaders, counselors and administrators, acquainting new students with school policies, class programming, student activities and guiding services will highlight the day's activity.

Testing and programming are planned for students transferring from other school districts.

A tour of the campus, directed by the student executive board, will follow the formal program.

Assistant Principal Thomas Redmond said that since school lunch facilities will not be available and dismissal will be about 3 p.m. in the afternoon, students should bring lunches.

Bus schedules for the orientation are:

BRISBANE: Airport boulevard and San Bruno avenue, 7:52 a.m.; San Bruno avenue and Alvarado, 7:55; Visitation and Klamath, 7:58; Brisbane - Post Office, 8:00.

BAYSHORE: Bayshore-Schwerin and Geneva avenue, 8:05.

DALY CITY: South Hill and Canyon drive, 8:05; and Bellevue and Gutenberg street, 8:10.

VANDALISM REPORTED

T. F. McPitrick of 267 Polaris way, reported to Daly City police over the weekend that a number of wood decorations in front of his house had been damaged.

THINKING IN PRINT—We wonder when major league management is going to cease using first base as the dumping ground position for all old, broken-legged, sore-armed sluggers who can't play anywhere else.

At one time, first basemen were thought of as clever fellows — dancing masters, and all that. Kids used to mimic the styles of their favorites around the old initial sack.

Guys like Hal Chase, Frank Chance, and even so recent a hero as Ferris Fain (circa '47-'55) became as famous, if not more famous, for their fielding as they did for their hitting, which was at times considerable.

They say that even Gentleman Jim Corbett, the dancing master who unseated the great John L. Sullivan from his heavyweight throne with fancy footwork, could have made the majors on his fancy footwork around first base had he not gone into boxing. Gentleman Jim's brother, Joe, incidentally, was a National league pitcher for four years before and after the turn of the century.

Fine defensive work at first base, in short, was at one time considered important.

But somewhere along the line someone got the idea of putting the Zeke Bonuras and Dick Sturats of the world at first base and the deluge began — the end result now being that fancy-fielding first basemen are just about as rare as Russian peace treaties.

There's Minnesota's Vic Power and St. Louis' Bill White. After that you have to think hard to locate others. Perhaps Orlando Cepeda, when he's in the right mood. The Yankees' Joe Pepitone looks like he might develop into one if he works at it. Come to think about it, that's all.

PLAYED CORRECTLY, first base can really be quite an intricate position to navigate and quite an important one to the club.

Just having a good first baseman is psychologically beneficial to the other infielders. If a shortstop, for instance, knows that he has a fumble-fingers at the bag, he's most likely going to unconsciously take a fraction of time longer to aim the ball.

This could result in losing the call on a fast runner in a close play, or in throwing the ball away — as infielders are often prone to do when they take more time getting rid of the ball than they ordinarily do.

With a good first baseman at the sack, however, infielders will feel much more secure in just picking the ball up and flinging it in the correct general direction of first base, secure in the knowledge that old glue-fingers over there is somehow going to come up with the ball, no matter what.

One of these years a team with all else equal is going to gain that edge it takes for a pennant by finding a good, old-fashioned, slick fielding first baseman and allowing him to ply his trade — with that slow moving slugger where he belongs, on the bench, waiting for a bags-loaded.

DESPITE what has been said in these columns, the writer is a Giant fan and a Dodger hater.

But one must, occasionally, be objective. Last year when the Dodgers bleated over the loss of Koufax as their excuse for blowing the pennant, we countered by reminding of the long absences from starting duty of Juan Marichal and Billy Pierce who were inactivated for a total of about 12 weeks due to ankle injuries.

This year, Giant fans are bemoaning the relatively miserable years for Giants Pierce, Sanford, Cepeda, Nays, both Alous, Davenport, Hiller and Pagan.

It is true that the above gentlemen aren't having quite the banner years they enjoyed last season. But let's examine the list of Dodgers who are off their feed this year.

Don Drysdale, while admittedly pitching in tough luck, still has not been quite as effective as he was last year. Roseboro is off-kilter, as is his replacement, Doug Camilli.

Bill Skowron, a fine hitter all of his major league career and the man who was supposed to bolster Dodger right handed slugging, is having the most miserable season in his life.

Maury Wills of 1963 is not the Wills of 1962. Tommy Davis has an impressive batting average but isn't driving in half the runs he drove in last year. Willie Davis is having his worst season yet. Frank Howard has been a huge (pun) disappointment.

Now, what about guys having exceptionally good years for the respective clubs. For the Giants, Bailey and McCovey. Kuenn is merely doing what he's always done while Marichal is simply being as great as he had been expected to be.

For the Dodgers, Perranoski, Moon and Fairly are doing just what was expected of them. Only old pro Jim Gilliam is really surprising anyone.

Yet the Dodgers hang in there. How do you explain it? Trite but true. That's baseball.

Clippers Cinch Championship In Daly City Summer League

The undefeated Clippers have clinched the championship in the Long division of the summer basketball league sponsored by the Daly City Recreation department by virtue of a 68-55 victory over the Clodhoppers.

The Clodhoppers made a game of it for one quarter as they trailed only 13-12.

The Clippers' superior board work and shooting ability broke open the game in the second quarter and turned it into a rout in the last half.

Willie Jones' 19 points was top for the winners as only one game stands between them and an undefeated season.

Al Weaver contributed 14 points to his team's cause. Steve Willis was the top man for the Mission street five as he scored 12 points in the Clodhopper game try.

Other Long division action saw the Whalers move within striking distance of second place with an easy 71-54 victory over the Rascals.

A Whaler win in their last game will send them into a tie with the Clodhoppers who have completed their season play.

Jim Mason was the big gun in the Whalers scoring attack as he pumped through 20 points to pace his team to victory.

Teammates Bill Vince, Mike Frank, and Doug Atkins also scored in double figures to aid the Whaler cause.

Bill Wipprecht was the Ras-cal's top scorer with 16. Captain Dave Breazeale continued to impress for the losing team as he scored 12 points.

In a close battle, the Celtics nipped the Rangers 59-55. Dan Lewis twice stole the ball in the closing minutes for the winners to help set up clutch baskets as the taller Gunners were unable to hit the key foul shots.

Lanky Brent McClaren led Celtic scorers with 17 points as Randy Willis and Mike Cullen scored 15 and 12 each to help their team's efforts. Marty Coil was the game high with 24 followed by Gerry Mason with 13 and Jim Smith with 12.

Despite a 37-22 loss at the hands of the second place Hawks, the league leading Knights retained their hold on first place and by doing so captured the championship in the Short division.

An inspired effort by the Hawks paced by the scoring of Telvis and Melvin Jones and Ron Lowe brought them their victory over the cold shooting Knights.

Telvis was the game high as he hit 12 points. Don Cafferetta led the Knight scorers with 6 points.

Other division games saw the Linda Mars forfeiting to the Half Pints and the Challengers and Breakers having a double forfeit as neither team could field the required number of players.

The Nats behind Tom Wuerthner's 14 points swamped the Breakers 31-13 in a practice tilt.

The British Were Represented

GREAT BRITAIN was represented in this fashion in the grand entry parade of a junior olympic program at Westlake Park last week, sponsored by the Daly City recreation department.

Each of the city's playgrounds represented a nation. Program included games and track events and a big watermelon feed at the conclusion. (Post-Times photo)

Daly City Ends Summer With Big Olympic Day

The Daly City Recreation department's summer program climaxed its ten weeks of activities with a gigantic Junior Olympics day and watermelon feed last Thursday at Westlake park.

Featured on the day's program were the championship play-offs in the weekly playground tournaments and a variety of races and contests in six different age classifications.

Each of the 18 participating playgrounds represented a different country of the world.

The day's program opened with a parade of countries. Recreation and Park Commission chairman Wilfred O'Rourke officially opening the day's festivities.

The day's events were concluded with the devouring of over a ton of watermelon by all the participants.

First, second and third place winners in all the day's events were presented with certificates. Margaret Pauline Brown played the top playground of the day with 91 points, followed by the War Memorial Community center (Turkey) with 74 and Garden village (Mexico) with 70.

Other playgrounds and their point scores were Abraham Lincoln (Japan) 55, George Washington (India) 51, Colma (Australia) 50, Marchbanks (Switzerland) 38, Westlake Park (Great Britain) 37, Our Lady of Mercy (Denmark) 34, Daniel Webster (Italy) 29, Vista Grande (Canada) 27, Woodrow Wilson (Brazil) 27, Frankfort Park (Greenland) 23, Lincoln Park (Argentina) 15, Olympia (Spain) 13, Vista Mar (Germany) 11, Westlake School (Ethiopia) 10 and Jefferson (France) 10.

Bento Makes Semifinals

Daly City is gaining a reputation as a golf power on the junior circuit as a second Westmoor golfer has won statewide honors.

Tony Bento, a Westmoor High senior, made the semifinals of the Northern California Junior Golf championships held at the Olympic club last week.

Bento is a teammate of Jim Fair, who went to the National Junior championships in South Carolina last month.

Both Bento and Fair are competing on the North team in the annual North-South California classic in Merced this week.

Bento was nosed out by one stroke by the eventual winner of the Northern California Golf championship, Johnny Miller of San Francisco.

Miller had leads of two strokes on the fourth and tenth holes, but lost them as Bento, playing steady golf, gradually edged closer.

On the twelfth hole, Bento finally evened the match. He forged ahead on the 13th hole with a par.

On the 16th, the Daly City youth hit into a sand trap and bogied on the par five hole.

They halved all holes down to the 19th where Miller won it with a par five. Bento was 45 feet from the cup in three strokes but took three putts to get it in.

New Coaches At El Camino

Bob Sexton has been named head football coach at El Camino High school, succeeding Tom McCormick who resigned that post this week to take a new job as offensive coach of the Minnesota Vikings of the National Football league.

Sexton worked as an assistant coach at the school last year. His appointment as head coach was announced yesterday by El Camino principal Robert C. Keropian.

In other coaching appointments announced by Keropian, star Bill Toomey, one of the nation's leading decathlon contenders, was named as head track coach. He will also teach history. Jack Coolidge of San Jose State was named as wrestling and frosh-soph football coach. Coolidge was a member of the San Jose State boxing and wrestling teams.

Serra Bowl

WITH SUMMER league action at Serra going into its last few weeks, there is no better time than right now to sign up for a winter league spot and avoid the disappointment of being left out of a barrel of bowling fun in the new season.

High roller in last week's 850 Scratch action was Joe Castinelli who tumbled a towering 220-625 trio for Eakin and Eakin in a 2-1 defeat at the hands of a steadier Team 3. Bill Raela was a close runner-up for individual scoring honors with his fine 222-620 shooting and Paul Franke following third with his 234-607 set.

In 810 Scratch competition, Ed Michaels Construction team split a match right down the middle with Joe Brandis Ford—each team emerging with 1½ wins to its credit. Earl Friend Sr. tallied high in that loop with his 236-634 trio for the above mentioned "automobowlers."

Bob Vannucci brought home the bowling bacon last week in the Shoppers league when he led Karls team to a 3-1 win over Green Valley Cafe with a husky 218-619 effort.

FRANK MOONEY posted a torrid 267-631 high game and high series in the Guys and Dolls league last week to pace his Team 6 to a 2½-1½ victory over Your Place in a hard fought tussle. Al Mort blasted a 239-606 threesome in the same league. A lot of top shooting at Serra lately!

Louise Yaquinto led the ladies in the latest Majorettes action as she banked out a name-sized 215-530 series to pace her Eakin and Eakin team to a 4-0 sweep over the Squeeze Inn Lounge gals.

In other action, Ted Stoksi led the boys in the Sharpshooters league with a nice 212-576 trio, Gary Gil tallied 213-584 to top the scoring in the Parkmerced league, Gary Packer tossed a classy 227-566 in the Starlighters league, and Dick Meintel paced the Portola Dads loop with his 212-567 kegling.

Westlake Bowl

WESTLAKE BOWL was host for more than 200 Elks and their ladies Saturday evening as co-chairmen Jim Hamilton and Carl Hughes brought the annual Summer Travel league to Daly City.

In the Ladies' 650 Classic, Betty Coriarity set a torrid pace with a 233 game and 609 series but this was not enough. Congratulations to Neva Runningwolf on a new ladies' high, not only for Westlake but for the city and the state. Neva rolled games of 187-264-279 for a tremendous 730 series.

A new leader took over in the Singles division of the first annual Ora Swanson's Southpaw tournament as Ella Paffard rolled a 684 series.

In the Sunday Night No-Tap, Emily Drago was high for the ladies with her 745 and Tom Collins led the men with a 746. The prize fund in the month-long No-Tap is building up and the tournament ends today.

Erma Graham was high for the ladies in the Southgate Mixed Fives with a 206 game and a 471 series while Ed Johnson bested the male bowlers on a 208 game and 333 series.

Primo and Rick have posted all of the meeting dates and times for winter leagues both night and day. Obtain your copy at the registration desk.

Ray Moore and Gary Moeller continue to widen the gap in the American Masters. This past week Ray bowled a 228 game for a 603 series while Gary rolled a torrid 244 game and 687 series.

THE LADIES' Friday No-Tap at 1:15 p.m. keeps growing every week. Winners this week were Emily Drago with 761; Jerry Nelson, 704; Kay French with 695; Mary Miller with 676 and June Tarczy with a 662 series. High game winner out of the series awards was Sharon Sylvester who rolled 230.

In the Men's Friday Night Jackpot Sweepers at 7 p.m., Dick Zalcott remained King of the Hill as he defeated Fred Von Huse; two strikes to one. Fred won the pre-roll-off sweepers with a 674 series. Next in line were Jack McNally at 663; Ron Schreier at 657 and Bob Anderson with a 652.

In leading the bowlers in the Twilight Mixed Fives this past week, Pat McGill also became a member of the Westlake 600 Club with a 223-602.

John Bazzanella set the pace in the four game Petersen Point Trio last week as he rolled a 257 game for an 884 series. Three other bowlers in the league averaged over 200 for the night as Billie Narin bowled 235-844, Rick Dreier, 230-827 and Gary Moeller, 229-822.

Leading the Lake Merced Handicap for the week was John Riley with a 231 game and a 587 series.

In the Kings and Queens 850 Mixed Scratch league, Winnie Gracheff and Tony Myers were leaders this past week. Winnie had a 205 game and 565 series and Tony rolled 221-608.

Linda Sargent paced the ladies in the Northgate Mixed with a 178-513 and Al Benedetti bested the gents with 233-567.

Congratulations to league secretary Hank Amstutz—once again a grandfather—son Rick Amstutz is the proud father serving overseas with U. S. Air Force.

Sea Bowl

SEEMS LIKE the Juniors and Bantams overran Sea Bowl last Thursday and Friday. Everywhere you looked there were kids and mire kids.

It was due to the fact that they had their parties on those days. Juniors that received trophies were: First place, Dave Scharton, Barbara Scharton, and Tean Terry; second place, Mike Krone, Barbara Thelen and John Krone. High Series boy was Mike Cristofani with 648, high game boy: Dave Scharton, 243; high series girl: Barbara Thelen, 464 and high game girl, Barbara Scharton, 183. Rams Trounce PAL Pirates

The BYA Rams moved to with in a half game of the Pacific Coast Midget league-leading PAL Pirates.

John Koliopoulos hurled a brilliant two-hit shutout in the 2-0 victory, fanning nine and walking only one.

The Rams bunched three doubles together in the third frame for their two runs. They were supplied by Koliopoulos, Alan Hoffman and Lanny Latorza.

Hoffman got two hits while Latorza had a perfect three for three.

The only "thorn" in the Rams' side was Jim Thorne, who got both hits for the Wolves and had two superb fielding plays.

Ron Wachen, Tim Kimball and John Owen all got singles for the Rams.

Nell Norton's Hints on Barbecuing

SATURDAY is Cookout Day in the Westlake Shopping center and the air will be rich with the delightful aroma of charcoal and cooking lamb. The busy chefs will be performing their particular brand of magic to create a winning recipe.

With all this cookout talk and preparations, I was looking through the cookbooks and the dictionary to see what they have to say about this method of cooking called "barbecuing."

The dictionary suggests that the name comes from the Spanish word barbacoa, originally, a raised framework for smoking, drying or broiling meat. And as for the method, somehow I think it just came about naturally. When man discovered fire, he also discovered that meat tasted a lot better cooked than it did raw.

And since sticks were available long before pans and ovens, the first shish-kabobs were probably cubed dinosaur. Can't you imagine Mrs. Caveman saying: "I'm sick of eating meat after meal in this cave. Let's eat outside. Husband, how about you broiling some brontosaurus steaks?"

I'll admit that my idea is not historically sound. However the method got started we are all glad it's here and that we are able to enjoy it.

BASICALLY, all you need for a barbecue is fire, grill and meat. But modern methods do make things a lot simpler and easier. Here are a few ideas to help us get the most out of those basic ingredients.

1. Line the fire bowl with heavyweight foil. This increases the efficiency of the fire and makes cleaning up afterwards a breeze. Just lift out the foil and your unit is clean and ready for the next time.

2. Give the fire plenty of time to burn from a flaming fire to a thick bed of embers. At least one hour.

3. Don't plan an elaborate meal. It's supposed to be fun. Make it simple and tasty and do everything ahead. So you can sit and watch the lord and master as he performs.

Since the type of meat to be used in the cookout is lamb and since the markets are featuring lamb right now, I'll pass on some recipes from the American Lamb Council.

BARBECUED LAMB SPARERIBS

3 lbs. spareribs or well trimmed whole breast
salt and pepper
1/4 cup vinegar
1/4 cup catsup
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 teas. seasoning salt
1/2 teas. ground ginger
2 Tbsp. cornstarch
1/4 cup water
1 pkg. Frozen mixed fruit
Thread lamb on skewers. Season with salt and pepper. Place on grill four to five inches above coals. Cook slowly until meat is tender, turning frequently. While meat is cooking prepare sauce by combining remaining ingredients. Simmer 15 minutes. Brush spare-ribs with sauce during cooking. Serve remaining sauce with lamb spareribs.

Sugar 'n' Spice

LAMB RIB CHOPS

Have chops cut 1 to 1 1/2 inches thick. French the bone ends and wrap in foil. Rub grill with piece of lamb fat. Arrange chops on grill and cook eight to 10 minutes on each side. Season with lemon butter just before serving.

LEMON BUTTER

1/2 cup butter
1/2 teas. salt
Dash or two Tabasco sauce
2 Tbsp. chopped parsley
2 Tbsp. lemon juice
Work butter with fork until creamy. Add salt, Tabasco sauce, parsley. Slowly add lemon juice and blend. Brush on lamb chops during cooking.

WHENEVER we think of barbecuing and lamb we naturally think of shish-kabob. The cookbooks are full of recipes for preparing this delightful entree. But it is better to go to an experienced cook who makes a specialty of this dish and see just how she goes about preparing it. Mrs. Lillian Kasabian, of 92 Maywood avenue, Daly City, is really an expert on shish-kabob and this is her method of making it.

SHISH-KABOB

Leg of lamb, boned and cut into cubes, about 1 1/2 inch 3 large onions, sliced
pepper (be generous, salt)

Place the cubed lamb, sliced onions, black pepper and salt in a large bowl. Work the meat and onion and seasonings together well. Cover and refrigerate overnight. Thread on skewers and broil until cooked to the desired degree — about 10 to 18 minutes is a good average.

Lillian suggests that you serve eggplant, peeled and cut into cubes and dipped in salad oil, and whole green peppers, broiled on skewers, along with your shish-kabob. A tip: when the peppers are done, drop them into a brown paper bag, close tightly to make the peppers steam and rub them inside the bag. The skins will come off easily.

NOW THAT WE'VE talked about the meats we are going to serve, let's get to the side dishes. One that comes immediately to mind is baked potatoes. Scrub them and wrap them in heavy foil. Place the among the coals and allow about one hour for a good sized potato.

You can serve corn on the cob, wrapped and sealed, so it will steam, in heavy foil and baked among the coals. Be sure to put a half teaspoon of butter and salt and pepper on the corn before you wrap it in the foil.

Spaghetti, made either from scratch or using a packaged mix, always complements barbecued meat. As do baked beans or pilaf. Add a tossed green salad and if the crowd is large, make a molded salad ahead to give color and variety to the meal.

As for dessert, the kids in the crowd would probably love the old standby of graham crackers with thin sweet chocolate bars between, toasted over the coals. You could even put a marshmallow in between if you want to compound the gooey sweetness.

Here is a cake that isn't too sweet and would finish off the meal nicely. It's easy to make, too, using pancake mix.

APPLE DESSERT

1-3 cup sugar
1-3 cup milk
1 egg
1/4 cup oil or melted butter
Mix all together and put in greased 9 by 9 inch pan. Over this batter spread 1 can of apple pie mix. Then beat together with a spoon:
1 egg
1/4 cup sugar
2 Tbsp. sour cream
Spread this "hit and miss" over the top of the apple mix. Sprinkle well with cinnamon or nutmeg. Bake at 375 degrees for 30 to 40 minutes. Test with tooth pick to see if it's done. Serves six.

IF YOU have a large crowd, it might be wise to make cookies ahead. You can't beat homemade cookies to please everyone.

SURPRISE OATMEAL COOKIES

2 1/2 cups sifted flour.
1 teas. soda
1 teas. salt
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup shortening, soft
1/2 cup water
2 1/2 cups oatmeal, uncooked
1/2 cup jelly or jam
Sift together flour, today, and salt into bowl. Add sugar, shortening and water. Beat until smooth, about two minutes. Fold in oats. Sprinkle a breadboard generously with confectioners' sugar. Roll dough very thin. Cut with cookie cutter into rounds.
Cut a design into half the cookies. Place plain cookies on lightly greased cookie sheet. Top with a half teaspoon of jelly and cover with a designed cookie, lightly pressing edges together. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, 10 to 12 minutes. Makes 3 1/2 dozen cookies.

Barbecued Stew Is Novel Idea

A barbecued lamb stew — a novel idea that traces its origin to the Camelback Mountain region of Arizona — makes for an unusual outdoor patio serving.

The recipe, prepared by Alan Merrett of Scottsdale, Ariz., in Kaiser Foll's 1963 cookout championship for men only, is easy, quick and uses two simple methods of cookery to achieve its success.

The stew vegetable-fruit ingredients are cooked in foil packets on the grill and the marinated lamb is broiled on skewers.

When both are done, about 35 minutes each, combine half the broiled meat with the stew ingredients in a serving bowl and gently fold in sour cream.

The remainder of the broiled lamb is used as topping. Serve piping hot with mint and cherry tomato garnish.

To form the packet for the eggplant portion, cut a sheet of quilted heavy duty foil about 40 inches long, fold in half to make double thickness. On it arrange eggplant cubes in layer; sprinkle on remaining seasonings evenly. Fold tightly using drugstore wrap, double sealing ends over top and sides.

CAMEL-JOCKEY STEW

(Serves 4)

2 1/2 lbs. leg of lamb, cut in 1-inch cubes
1 large eggplant, cut in 1/2-inch cubes
2 cloves garlic, minced
1 large onion, chopped
1/4 cup chopped raisins
1/2 cup crushed pineapple, drained
2 tablespoons salad oil
3 tablespoons soy sauce
1 cup commercial sour cream
Quilted foil, 14-inch heavy duty

MARINADE

Combine 1/2 cup salad oil
1 clove garlic, crushed
1/4 teaspoon dried mint leaves (or 2-3 fresh, crushed)
1/4 cup lemon juice
Place lamb cubes in shallow pan pour marinade over them. Let stand about 2 hours.

On a large double-thickness of quilted foil, place eggplant cubes, garlic, onion, raisins and pineapple; sprinkle with salad oil and soy sauce. Make into a packet, using double folds to assure a tight seal. Place on back of grill to cook for 35 minutes, turning frequently.

Thread lamb on skewers. Grill, turning frequently, until brown and tender, about 30 minutes.

Place eggplant mixture and half of the lamb cubes in large bowl; gently fold in sour cream. Turn onto serving platter and arrange remaining lamb cubes on top. Garnish with mint leaves and cherry tomatoes, if desired.

OUTDOOR lamb stew, barbecue fashion, traces its origin to the Camelback mountain region of Arizona. Recipe was prepared by Alan Merrett of Scottsdale, Ariz.

A Salad? Barbecue

SHRIMP BOWL "300" (Serves 6)
2 1/2 lb raw shrimp, shelled and deveined
1/4 cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons soy sauce
1 tablespoon parsley flakes
3 cups cooked rice
3 large onions, diced
1 lb. mushrooms
1 cup crushed pineapple
1/2 cup sliced Brazil nuts
3 tablespoons peanut oil
4 slices green pepper, 1/4-inch thick
Quilted foil, 14-inch heavy duty
Arrange shrimp, 1 layer deep, in the center of a 26-inch strip of quilted foil. Combine mayonnaise, 1 tablespoon soy sauce and parsley flakes; spread over shrimp. Bring ends of foil to the center, making double folds to seal the package completely. Grill 15 minutes.
Sauté onions and mushrooms in oil until soft but not browned. Add rice, pineapple and remainder of soy sauce, cover and simmer 15 minutes. Stir in Brazil nuts and pour into large salad bowl. Top with grilled shrimp. Stand green pepper slices on end around outside of bowl for decoration.

COOKOUT CONTEST FOR MEN

Tantalizing Aroma of Barbecues to Fill Air

The tantalizing aroma of barbecued food will fill the air in the Westlake Shopping center mall Saturday.

The occasion will be the first annual cookout for men only, sponsored by center merchants, Kaiser Aluminum Pail, the American Lamb Council, General Foods and General Mills. Sponsors say the barbecue competition will be the biggest event of its kind ever staged in the Bay Area.

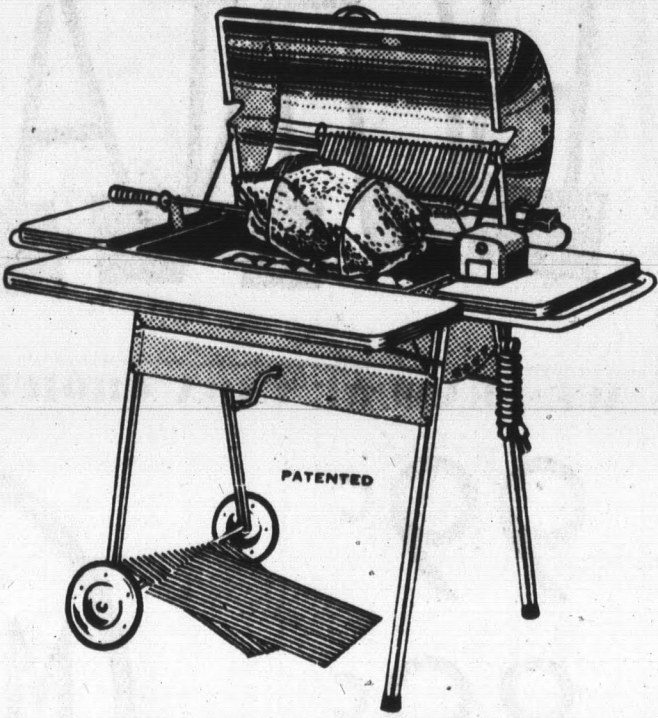

After a Saturday morning cookout school, open free to the public, the men of the North County will roll up their sleeves, don their chef's hats and start preparing their favorite barbecue dish at 12:30 p.m.

At stake will be two top prizes, consisting of two Big Boy barbecue units that usually sell for $70.

Before starting their recipes, Saturday's contestants will have been briefed on the contest format and supplied with a number of ingredients they may use in the recipes.

The Big Boy Barbecue company will supply 25 units and accessories for all cookout contestants to use.

A number of prominent cooking experts will judge the event. After the final decisions are made and winners announced, each contestant will slice his serving into sample-sized portions for the public to savor.

CONTESTANTS in the Westlake Shopping center's cookout championship for men only Saturday will be plying their skills on one of these portable barbecues, provided by the Big Boy Barbecue company. A slightly smaller version will be awarded the two top winners in the contest.

In connection with the cookout, center merchants will give away Saturday 2000 shopping bags, containing valuable gifts, on a first-come, first-served basis.

A School of Barbecue

Ed Bell, a nationally famous barbecue chef who is associated with the Big Boy Manufacturing company of Burbank, will conduct a cookout barbecue school for the public Saturday morning from 10:30 a.m. until noon in the Westlake Shopping center.

Everyone who attends the school and receives instructions on how to barbecue will receive a diploma at the end of the course.

Bell will come to Westlake from the east where he has conducted schools in Boston, New York, Washington, D. C., and other cities.

He is known not only for his cookout ability but for his points on starting a fire—using the smallest amount of charcoal and getting the most flavor out of the least expensive piece of meat.

He recently conducted a cookout school in Washington, D. C., attended by heads of the government, including the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, Earl Warren, and approximately 300 top government officials.

After the school, a question and answer session will be held. Cookout problems will be answered.

Making the school possible are Big Boy company, Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical corporation of Oakland, and Westlake Shopping center merchants.

Younger: No Tax Cut This Year

More than 300 pages will be added to the income tax revenue code as a result of the present revamping of the law it was declared by Congressman J. Arthur Younger in an address before the North San Mateo County Board of Realtors last week at El Rancho motel in Millbrae.

The congressman said that the senate, which has held no hearings on the bill, will not act on a revision this year.

Younger commented that 1963 marks the 50th anniversary of the income tax but it is the one anniversary that nobody celebrates.

Some of the changes in the law indicated are that there will be a provision for elimination of capital gains tax on a family home sold by persons over 65 years of age. There are various conditions, however, attached to this change.

The congressman also reported that there will be an option in taking deductions for charitable donations, with either 10 per cent allowed or a flat allowance of $300 for the head of a household and $100 for other members of the family.

Younger said that if the bill does not clear both the house and the senate this year, it will undoubtedly be the subject of early consideration next year, with possible retroactive provisions.

Congressman Younger, a former realtor and master appraiser, was introduced by Robert Miller, San Bruno, president of the North County Board of Realtors.

CSM Board Raps Brown On Finances

The College of San Mateo Board of trustees and CSM president Julio Bortolazzo have ruffled off a bitter missive to Governor Brown and other state politicians blasting the state legislature for its "treacher" appropriations to the junior college system.

The letter, addressed to Brown, senators Hugh Burns and Richard Dolwig, and assemblyman Jesse Unruh, Carl Britschgi and Leo Ryan, accused the legislature of throwing the junior college district into an "imminent crisis."

In Conflict

The trustees and Bortolazzo said that the thinking of the legislature, as reflected through its financial support, is in conflict with the state master plan.

The letter said:

"If the master plan is to be a reality, then let there be recognition through appropriate legislation. The present level of support, averaging only 25 per cent from state funds, is far removed from the goal of 45 per cent specified in the master plan. Furthermore, that level is decreasing rather than rising."

The letter also accused the legislature of doing the taxpayer a great injustice, in that monies used to implement the state funds must come from property taxes in the district.

"Sheer Mockery"

"As far as the junior colleges of this state are concerned, the master plan has become meaningless. It is sheer mockery to assert that the junior colleges are equal partners in the tripartite system of high education, to shift the responsibility to the junior colleges for education of an additional 50,000 lower division students in this decade, and then to ignore the attendant and financial burden placed upon local taxpayers."

The letter concluded by saying: "Beyond the peak of the junior colleges' financial crisis lies a downgrade which can only mean gradual deterioration of the quality of education for our students."

It was signed by Bortolazzo and trustees Robert Tarver, U. S. Simonds Jr., Mrs. Eleanor D. Nettie, Carl Ward and Raymond Whitney.

VANDALISM REPORTED
Fred E. Geibig, of 335 Park Plaza drive, reported to Daly City police last week that someone had scratched the lid of the trunk of his car, parked in his garage.

Two Injured In Tumbles

Two Daly City residents were injured in falls over the weekend, police reported.

William W. Tyson III, of 243 Irvington street, broke his left foot when he fell about 2 p.m. Sunday from a ladder. He was painting the front of his house at the time.

He was given emergency treatment at Kaiser Foundation hospital in South San Francisco and then transferred to San Francisco General hospital.

Jaime M. Kubowitsch, 54, of Vista Grande avenue, suffered a bruised rib in a tumble at Theta and Mission streets about 7:15 Sunday night. He was treated at Kaiser Foundation hospital in South San Francisco.

Rotary Club to Meet at Serra

The Daly City Rotary club will hold its weekly luncheon meetings each Wednesday in the Friar room of Serra Bow, starting next week.

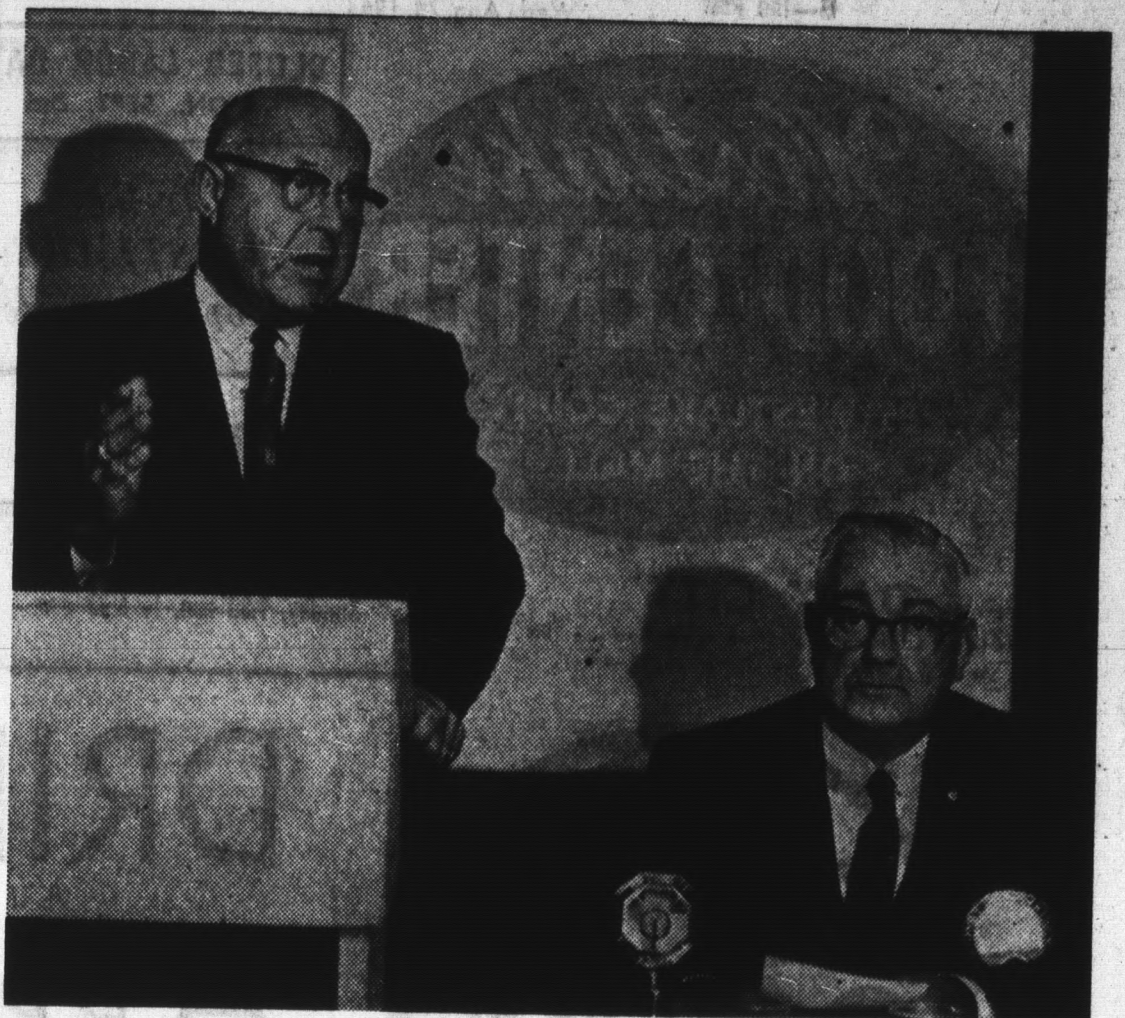

In other Rotary news, Bert Feltinton, manager of Bloom's Shoe's in the Westlake Shopping center and president of the center's merchants' association, was inducted into the club.

Induction ceremonies were conducted by Julian Cohn, Rudolph Richter and Donald Davis.

Luncheon Talk

Optimists Hear Success Of New Produce Market

WHEN 17 of the largest fruit and produce merchants in the Bay Area moved to the Golden Gate Produce terminal in South San Francisco, they saw customers they had never seen before, James Hall, president of the terminal association, said last week.

He spoke before a joint meeting of the Union Square and the Lake Merced Optimist clubs at the Westlake Bowl.

Hall said the terminals was drawing customers who had driven 800 additional miles to Los Angeles to get their produce when the firms were located in San Francisco.

"It used to take drivers all day to load up at our facilities in San Francisco," he said. "Now we can load them in two and a half hours."

The location of the produce firms in South San Francisco is ideal also because of the location near the airport, he said.

In five years, he expects a "tremendous increase" in the volume of air cargo during the winter months.

The Redevelopment Agency declared the former location of the produce firms "blighted" in 1956 and plans were made to move out of the area.

Coast Lions Buy a Share

The Pacifica Lions club has purchased a $100 share in the American Field Service foreign student exchange program. Club President Ed Greer stated:

"We are happy to take part in this program of international good will, since the Lions club with its 17,380 clubs and 685,000 members in 122 countries is certainly international in scope."

Louanne's Datebook

By Louanne Heath

MRS. JACKIE TORRES, chairman of the Federated Women's club of Pacifica has announced that Mrs. Edna Laurel Calhan, of the Fifty Plus club, Mrs. Nancy Finken, the American Association of University Women, Pacifica branch president, and Mrs. Alice Uriarte, Mrs. Irene Rosenberg and Mrs. Wilma Burton, will be among those members pouring at the club's annual membership tea.

The event, always a high point on the social calendar, will be held September 15 in the Vallemar home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rosenberg and, weather permitting, the tables will be placed in the beautifully landscaped garden area.

According to Mrs. Torres, approximately 100 prospective members will be attending the tea and meeting the officers and members. However, this in no way indicates that many more guests would not be entirely welcome, Mrs. Torres has emphatically announced.

"Often women move into the area and are interested in joining a civically oriented group but they aren't acquainted with any of our members so they don't receive an invitation," she said. "Actually no invitation is needed. If these people would contact me and let us know of their interest I could see to it that they were invited. We are always eager for new people to join."

Mrs. Torres said that any women who have been Federated Women's club members in other cities are also urged to contact her at anytime so that they can become affiliated with the Pacifica chapter. Interested Pacifica women can call Mrs. Torres at 359-3724 for more information.

MRS. WILLIAM ROSS and children have re-in Lake county. The Rosses spent a week enjoying the facilities of the resort area.

DESPITE the fact that sociologists are always exclaiming on the restlessness of our society it would seem that a good many people who settle in Daly City do so on a permanent basis.

For example, consider the former presidents of the Our Lady of Perpetual Help Mother's club. The group was organized in 1939 and since that time 23 women have presided over the club and will be the guests of honor at the Memory Lane Fashion show on October 19. Of the total, 12 still reside in Daly City proper with an additional five that have defected only as far as San Francisco or Millbrae.

A small mystery surrounds three of the women, Mrs. Vera Ross, president 1943-44, Mrs. Dorothy Carrington, who presided 1955-56; and Mrs. Othello G. Fair who was president for the 1958-59 term.

All three of these former officers have dropped out of sight completely but the fashion show committee would like very much to include them in the ceremonies to be held during the fashion show. How about it? Any readers have a current address for any of these women?

HOME after spending a week visiting her family in Canada is Mrs. Elsie Garrison of Westlake.

MRS. MAURICE CLARK, grand regent of Catholic Daughters of America, Court St. Mary 1155, entertained the members of her executive board in her home recently.

The gathering combined business with pleasure as plans for the program of events for the coming year were discussed and the date for the first meeting set.

According to Mrs. Harvey Mumford, publicity chairman, the first meeting is scheduled for 8 p.m. on September 5 in the Parish hall at Our Lady of Perpetual Help church.

Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Arthur Dikas, Mrs. Edward members of the local court who traveled down the Nolan and Mrs. Charles Wettstein were among the Peninsula last weekend to enjoy the glittering benefit show presented by all the courts in the Bay Area.

THE ANNUAL Women's guild retreat to Vallabrosa will be one of the chief items of business on the agenda of this term's first Holy Angel's Women's guild meeting on September 4.

Members of the guild who are unable to attend the meeting but who still wish to attend the retreat the end of next month are urged to call Mrs. Alex Meyer, PL 6-5565 to obtain more information or to make reservations.

MRS. ANTHONY CAIN and the six young Cains have just returned from a six week vacation at Forest Lake and are now entertaining a house guest from North Hollywood.

Mrs. Lou Gregory, Mrs. Cain's sister, will spend a week with Mr. and Mrs. Cain while in town to attend the Wescon show at the Cow Palace.

JOHN GREEN, president of the Westview Improvement association has announced that the first meeting of the fall will be held September 13 in the Westview school.

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. It will be a combination business and social gathering.

Nu Sigma Sets First Meeting

Nu Sigma chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority will hold its first fall meeting on September 5 at the home of Mrs. John Abbott Jr.

Mrs. Mel Fernandez, president, is seeking approval of the new social calendar, including fall rushing plans.

"The Body Beautiful" is the topic of the cultural program planned for the evening.

Tau Gamma chapter of Pacifica will host the Northern Peninsula council of Beta Sigma Phi on September 11.

Navy Mothers Map Session

The San Francisco Navy Mother's Club 202 will hold a business meeting next Wednesday at the War Memorial building on Van Ness avenue at 8 p.m.

Commander Lucille Jones and Mary Cristofani will attend the state convention in Long Beach in September.

The Navy Mothers plan a benefit game and luncheon at 224 Burrows street from 12:30 to 3 p.m. September 19. The proceeds will go to Naval hospital's welfare.

Square Dance Is Scheduled

The Northern California Square Dancers association will conduct a "multiple stampede" from 8:30 to 11:30 Saturday night in the San Bruno armory.

Harley Smith of Covina will be the feature caller.

Susan Lycett and George Schellenberg Are Married

Susan Renee Lycett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard J. Lycett of 100 Fairlawn avenue, Daly City, and Ernest W. Schellenberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Schellenberg of Linden, Wash. were married in Our Lady of Mercy church in Daly City.

The bride wore a gown of white peau de soie empire line, with the bodice trimmed with seed pearls and the chapel train appliqued with lace and seed pearls. Her veil was a cap of lace and seed pearls holding a fire-fire veil.

She carried a bouquet of white orchids, lilies of the valley and stephanotis. Bridesmaids were Joanne Daley, Barbara Fenton and Barbara Morris. Honor attendant was Mary Maniscalco.

American ORT Plans Meeting

The Buena Vista chapter of Women's American ORT will hold its first regular meeting of the fall season next Wednesday at the Lake Merced Boat center at 8 p.m.

U.C. Unit Announces Fall Slate

Critical problems which today challenge the stability and well-being of American society will be examined in a University of California extension program scheduled this fall in San Francisco and Berkeley.

Conflicts over integration, birth control, drug use, and juvenile delinquency, and the problems of rapid change in traditional social patterns will be discussed by a staff of scholars and spokesmen whose careers have been devoted to the study and resolution of social conflict.

James Farmer, national director of the Congress on Racial Equality, will open the series September 16 at 8 p.m. in Dwinelle hall on the U.C. Berkeley campus and September 17 at the First Unitarian church in San Francisco. His talk is titled: "Integration: Progress to Date and Alternate Roads to Completion."

Other speakers in the weekly series are: William Peterson, U.C. professor of sociology, discussing "The American Family: Persistent Myths and Current Trends."

The Right Reverend James A. Pike, bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of California, "Birth Control: The Morality of Contraception."

James D. Koerner, president of the board of the council for basic education, Washington, D.C., "The Theory and Practice of Educating Teachers in America."

Herbert Hill, labor secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, "Union Democracy: The Negro and the Trade Union."

Edwin M. Schur, Tufts university sociologist, "Social-Legal Conflict: Legalization of Homosexuality and Drug Use."

Agencies Start Fall Programs

The many agencies served by the Volunteer Bureau of San Mateo county are completing their summer programs and launching their fall programs.

The bureau notes that many volunteers after a summer's rest, return to the jobs they had before, others want to try a new type of work.

The bureau also added that their lists are increased by newcomers to the community and people who find that, this year, they have enough free time to do volunteer work.

Now is the time, according to the bureau, for anyone considering volunteer work to come to the office at 119 Primrose road, Burlingame, or to telephone for an appointment.

The Volunteer bureau helps a new volunteer find the job which best suits her talents. Agencies are able to give service to more people because of volunteer help.

The Friendly Visiting service, which sends visitors into boarding and nursing homes, is a case in point. Volunteers call on the elderly and ill shut-ins in a regularly scheduled and supervised visiting program. The need is especially great for visitors in the San Mateo and Burlingame areas.

The Children's Receiving home and the Children's Health home will need people to help with the children; clinics and auxiliaries will need aid in many different capacities. Job possibilities range from secretaries to arts and crafts teachers. Teachers' aides and story tellers have been requested to work in the elementary schools in the Ravenswood area; the United crusade, tuberculosis association and Crippled Children's society will be preparing their fall drives and will need several different kinds of help.

The requests are constant for volunteers for spot jobs. The Traveler Aid booth at the airport will need help and pool therapists and art therapists are needed by several agencies.

The bureau is open from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. The bureau is a project of the Assistance league of San Mateo county and shares in the United Fund of San Mateo county.

B'nai B'rith Plan Change

A new meeting place has been selected by the San Francisco council of B'nai B'rith women for the next council meeting Wednesday at 9:30 a.m., president Mrs. Abe Ight has announced.

The meeting will take place at the Sheraton-Palace hotel, Parlor G, room 251.

Program chairman Mrs. Norman Steinberg, will showcase a new skit entitled, "The Magic Lady."

Social Service Auxiliary Plans Estate Style Show

The Catholic Social Service auxiliary of San Mateo county will present its annual Estate Fashion show Thursday, September 5, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Judson G. Sherrill, of 440 Roehampton road, Hillsborough. The garden party and champagne hour will begin at 1:15 p.m. The setting for the parade of fashions will be the garden terrace.

Dance Group Sets Classes

Fall dance classes for children in Daly City and Colma are being scheduled now by the Westmoor Creative Dance group, a non-profit parent cooperative organization beginning its ninth season of service in this area. Mrs. Louis M. Caserza, newly elected coordinator of the dance group, announced that four classes will be available. Basic ballet for girls eight years and older, and modern dance techniques for first and second graders, will be offered on Tuesday afternoons at the Thomas A. Edison school. Pre-school tots will be given on Thursday afternoons at the Daniel Webster school.

All classes will be taught by instructors trained under Dick Ford, who is widely known locally for his KQED dance shows. Mrs. Caserza said. Teaching methods are designed to encourage free expression of the individual child's personality. Creative techniques will be systematically employed to promote balanced muscular development and coordination through dance routines, she said. New group chairman for the Westmoor Dance group include Mrs. Charles Wheat, ballet; Mrs. Peter Alba, modern dance techniques, and Mrs. Herbert Nishio, kindergarten and pre-school classes. Mrs. Arthur A. LaPied is the new treasurer. Parents who want further information about creative dance classes may call either PL 6-3393 or JU 5-6336.

Examinations Set for Rams

All students who plan to enter a fall sport at Westmoor High school this year will take physical examinations at 10 a.m. tomorrow in the gymnasium of the school. The Rams will begin football practice Tuesday.

Child Abuse Symposium Scheduled

Alarmed by a sudden increase in San Mateo county of the number of children killed and injured due to parental abuse, county health and welfare officials are planning a day-long symposium for September 18 to deal with the subject.

Dr. Harold D. Chope, county health and welfare director, told the county board of supervisors that four deaths from parental abuse have occurred in the county within the past eight months.

Several instances of injury to children have been brought to the attention of law enforcement agencies, said Dr. Chope. Other suspected cases have been reported by pediatricians.

Dr. Chope said the symposium will be designed to explore some of the research that has gone on during the past few years to combat the problem. He noted that a number of public and private programs have been undertaken throughout the country.

The chief speaker at the symposium will be Mrs. Katherine Oettinger, chief of the federal children's bureau in Washington, D. C. Dr. Chope said county educators, law enforcement officials and others will take part in a panel discussion in the afternoon session.

Colma Plunge Injures Four

Two Daly City girls and their dates were injured last week when their car plunged down a steep 30-foot bank off of Chinese cemetery road near Colma.

It took the work of six men to bring the victims up the bank and load them in an ambulance. Highway patrolmen said Gerard Jean Eremian, 19-year-old Tiburon student, was driving eastbound at 2 a.m. when his car left the road on a sharp curve.

Only one of the four occupants was admitted to Peninsula hospital. She was Nina Sayad, 19, of 22 Fairway drive, Daly City, who suffered multiple cuts and head injuries. Her condition was good. Treated and dismissed were Miss Sayad's roommates, Janet Sarkis, 21, Eremian, and Peter J. Reynaud, 19, of San Francisco.

Italian Styles Will be Shown

The Better Halves, a ladies auxiliary working in behalf of the City of Hope, will conduct an Italian Knit Fashion show at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, September 11 in the Lake Merced Boat house.

Proceeds will be given to the City of Hope.

The fashions will be worn by House of Charm models.

Door prizes will include a three-day stay for two at a Reno lodge.

THEFT REPORTED
William J. Eichorn of San Francisco reported to Daly City police last week that thieves had stolen a sweater, brief case and tire cover from his auto, parked in the rear of 251 Southgate avenue.

New College of San Mateo Campus Nears Completion

The College of San Mateo's new College Heights campus is 96 percent complete according to a report submitted to the trustees at last Wednesday's meeting.

George Hutchinson, director of building construction, said that "the end is in sight" as he briefly reviewed the various building, landscaping, roads and parking, and equipment installation projects.

It was the final meeting for the board on the Coyote Point campus, with the next meeting scheduled for 8 p.m. September 5, on the College Heights campus.

A brief "End of an Era" ceremony will be held on the Coyote Point campus at 4:30 p.m., September 6, when the flag—which has been in use at Coyote Point since 1947—will be lowered.

The board approved recommended purchases of institutional supplies, equipment, and library books for a total of $265,000.

In another action relative to College Heights, the trustees adopted an interim policy for 1963-64 on use of district facilities.

The regular and special educational purposes of the college will have priority; but when these educational purposes have been met, the facilities will be made available for a broad range of community uses.

The interim policy provides for booking of facilities and maintenance of a master calendar of college and community events through the office of college-community relations.

Another interim policy, on transportation of students, 1963-1964, was also adopted with a suggestion that a review be made after several months of operation during the fall semester.

Under the terms of the policy, bus tickets to a terminal point will be furnished to day students who reside in that portion of the Sequoia Union High school district which is south of the southern boundary of Redwood City and to day students from the Jefferson Union High school district, except residents of Pacifica.

Coast Realtors Listing Expands

Fourteen realtors and 10 associates from Pacific Coastside, are listed in the huge 360-page roster issue of the California Real Estate magazine, now in the mail to the 39,000 members of the California Real Estate association.

"This represents a healthy growth in the membership for our board," said Charles Fisher, president of the Pacific Coastside Board of Realtors.

Congressman Asks Airport Enlargement

Enlarging of International Airport is necessary to accommodate Mach 2 jets and to begin planning a port for commercial rockets, Congressman John F. Shelley said in a talk before the Golden Gate College M.B.A. association in San Francisco last week.

Shelley, San Francisco mayor's candidate, claimed some airlines have ordered Mach 2 jets "that will take us to Honolulu in 90 minutes and to London in four hours."

San Francisco Mayor George Christopher was asked by the city public utilities commission to recommend a supplemental appropriation of $1,727,500 for construction work at the airport.

The commission said $600,000 is needed to expand air cargo facilities at the South Terminal building; $667,500 to build Pier FF, including interim facilities to serve aircraft parking position, and $450,000 to reconstruct Pier D and the south concourse.

The commission was advised that Pier FF would include parking facilities for five aircraft for Western Air Lines with the city paying only for three of them.

San Francisco and the airline, it was explained, are working out an arrangement whereby the airline would put up $50,000 for two temporary parking ports, with the sum to be repaid in the form of rent.

Airport Noise Brings Suits

Fifty-nine subdivision residents who say their children "awake startled, afraid and screaming" because of "intolerable noise" at San Francisco International airport are seeking $3.4 million in damages to calm their nerves.

The residents of Bayshore Manor subdivision, Millbrae, filed suit in San Francisco superior court last week for $57,500 each against the city and county of San Francisco.

Their claim is based on a U.S. Supreme Court ruling that airports must compensate owners of nearby property for noise, vibration and fear caused by aircraft.

The residents say that 200 homes in Bayshore Manor were constructed between 1943 and 1945 when the nearest runway was 1 1/2 miles away.

In 1959, a jet runway was built within 800 feet of some homes. The complaint says the residents are subject to great vibrations, deafening noise and the emission of nauseous vapors and dust and soot.

Auto-torium Adds Center

Construction of a new service center addition at the Auto-torium store in Stonestown will be completed by the end of August, it was announced today by Auto-torium president Sid Paton.

The new automobile service center addition will almost double present facilities and space, Paton added.

The Stonestown Auto-torium store was opened just a little over three years ago, the fourth of six Auto-torium stores which comprise the largest service center and accessory, tire and battery retail chain in San Francisco.

The expansion at the Stonestown location was necessitated by increased demands for service and installations, Paton said.

Crocker Anglo Dividend Set

The board of directors of Crocker-Anglo National Bank last week declared a dividend of 35 cents per share on the bank's capital stock. It was announced by chairman Paul E. Hoover.

The dividend is for the three months period beginning July 1, and ending September 30, and is payable October 15, 1963, to shareholders of record as of September 25, 1963.

Restaurant Is Damaged

Damage was estimated at more than $6000 after a deep fryer burst into flames Friday morning at the Sai Wu Chinese restaurant at 309 Southgate avenue in Daly City.

Firefighters said the most of the damage was caused by smoke and water. The flames burned through electrical fixtures but did not spread to the rest of the restaurant.

The growth in membership of the statewide association in the last year was more than 3300 Realtors and real estate salesmen, according to L. H. Wilson of Fresno, association president. He said that more than 15,300 of the members of the association are Realtors—real estate brokers recognized as qualified professionals through their membership in the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

Because of the reference value of this special issue, more than 2,000 additional copies are mailed to major libraries, consultants, chambers of commerce, large corporations, and other interested in California real estate throughout the country, said Wilson.

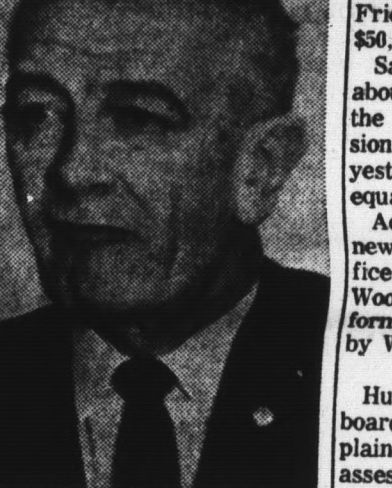

Expanding on California's newly won rank of most populous state, an article by the association's president points out that the state is also first in many other accomplishments.

Wilson documents California's leadership in such fields as highway construction, job development research, and education.

The magazine, founded in 1920, contains other articles, maps and charts giving facts about California's mineral resources, topography, climate, and recreational resources. It lists all elective officers of the state, and lists the population of all California cities and unincorporated places of 2,000 or more.

A survey of its 58 counties gives such facts as area, rainfall, chief crops and industries, resources, motor vehicles and deeds recorded. There are expanded profiles of Alameda, Butte, Imperial, Inyo and Santa Barbara counties.

Another section illustrates and describes the California state emblems.

VISITING OFFICIAL — Kenneth Wagner, Lieutenant Governor of California, visited the local Lake Merced Optimist club last week at its regular luncheon meeting at the Westlake Bowl Tuesday. The zone extends from Salinas to Redding and east to Salt Lake City. Wagner is a San Francisco businessman and a regular member of the Union Square club. He explained the objectives and scoring system in obtaining an "honor club" rating. (Post-Times Photo.)

Crusade Gets Telephone Workers Aid

If the early results from a pilot campaign well in advance of the United Crusade drive scheduled for next October are any indication of the success to be expected in the coming campaign, the United Crusade in San Mateo county and its sister counties in the UBAC federation will have a real good year.

The Peninsula accounting office of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company in San Mateo reported that with 88 cent of their employees already contributing, donations to the crusade drive to raise funds for 183 services in the five counties have already doubled last year's returns.

57 One Per Centers From six employees which joined the One Per Cent club last year, the number of employees to join this club at the company's accounting office has increased to 57.

This is more than one-quarter of the number employed at the office. The One Per Cent club comprises those individuals who donate one per cent or more of their gross annual pay to the United Crusade.

The driving force for this early and very successful campaign in a branch of one of our bay-wide firms is Mrs. Wanda Branco, 1963 chairman at the accounting office.

Daly City Building Drops Off

Thirteen building permits with an estimated valuation of $26,867 were issued last week by the Daly City building inspector's office.

The valuation total was a sharp drop from last week when 15 permits were issued for construction estimated at $66,240.

The permits were issued to: Mary Jewett Hutcheson, 353 Bellevue avenue, to add balcony and stairs and replace garage door with wall and window.

Myron Coker, 1052 Wildwood avenue, to build a family room, laundry room and bedroom.

Charles Maldonado, 267 Canyon drive, to codify basement rooms.

James Ince, 150 Wyandotte avenue, to replace stairs.

Arthur Le Van, 160 Northridge avenue, to install ledgerock and aluminum siding.

George Nutting, 1388 Southgate avenue, to build family room.

Lillian Schuler, 86 Los Olivos avenue, to replace windows and door.

Anthony Rowan, 98 Vendome, to replace front porch.

Walter J. Lehigh, 563 Crocker avenue, to repair walls.

Anthony G. Komis, 70 Bepler street, to add room to rear of building.

Harry Adorador, 437 Southgate avenue, to add aluminum covering.

Mrs. Elvire Belli, 197 First avenue, to replace window and back stairs.

Emmett J. Blincoe, 448 Woodrow street, to build house at 240 Frankfort street.

Mrs. Helen Peterson, 189 Windsor drive, to lower living room ceiling.

San Francisco's fight against the new assessments assigned to International Airport by San Mateo county paid off for the city Friday to the tune of about $30,000.

San Francisco will have to pay about that much less in taxes to the county as a result of a decision handed down in Sacramento yesterday by the state board of equalization.

Actually, the board upheld the new assessments made by the office of County Assessor Ralph B. Woodman, but applied a different formula to them than that used by Woodman.

Different Figures Hugh Strachan of the state board's legal department explained that the agency fixed the assessed value at 21.8 per cent of market value, whereas the assessor had used a 25 per cent figure.

Strachan said the 21.8 figure was derived through a random sampling of assessed values throughout the county. The sampling showed that the average parcel in the county is assessed at 21.8 per cent of market value, not the theoretical 25 per cent figure under which the office operates.

The result of the state board's action was to fix an assessed value of $3,422,385 on the airport land, compared with a value of $3,924,800 assigned by Woodman's office.

The assessed value before this year was only $1,124,000. At the three-day hearing in Sacramento, San Francisco authorities conceded that some increase was justified, but wanted it fixed at around $2,500,000.

Both Win The board's decision Friday thus amounted to a victory for both sides.

L'il Cherub Puff Cookies

A delightful addition to your cookie varieties that is a meringue-type. Especially recommended if your family prefers Milk Chocolate over the Dark Semi-Sweet for it features GUITTARD MILK Chocolate DROPS. Easy to make—and no shortening or flour is used!

To make: Pre-heat oven to 300 degrees. Cover baking sheet with waxed paper or foil. To 2 egg whites, which will beat lighter at room temperature, add 1/8 tsp. salt, 1/2 tsp. vanilla and either 1/2 tsp. vinegar or 1/4 tsp. cream of tartar. Beat until soft peaks form; then gradually beat in 1/2 cup sugar and beat until very stiff. Fold in one 6 oz. pkg. GUITTARD MILK Chocolate DROPS and 1/4 cup coarsely chopped nuts of your choice (if desired). Drop mixture from tip of teaspoon on pre-covered baking sheet to make approximately 1/2 half-dollar size cookies. Bake at 300 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes. Remove with spatula; cool on rack. Makes 4 dozen tender meringue-type cookies. Double recipe, if desired. Store loosely covered.

You'll find the handy white bags of GUITTARD MILK Chocolate DROPS in the section where you'd buy chocolate for baking.

By DON MILLER

ANY GOOD night club worth its reputation has one of those burly, authoritative fellows known as a bouncer. His job, in case you've never seen him in action, is to give the old heave-ho to unruly patrons.

The same sort of role is fulfilled by special policemen at sporting events, at the circus, at indoor and outdoor rallies—in short, at most any event where the public gathers.

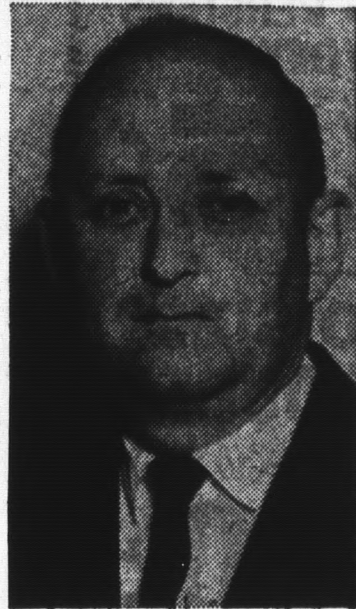

Well, the bouncer-policeman-monitor type is coming to the Daly City Library system and as a result, you bet that one of the hallmarks of a good library—SILENCE—will be very much in vogue in our community this year.

Plans to hire a guardian of the silence were revealed to the city's Library commission this month by Samuel Chandler, head librarian and a man who obviously likes to keep the racket in his libraries just about non-existent.

Unfortunately, Chandler lamented to the commission, this hasn't always been the case up to now—even though, he duly reported, the city's libraries were quieter last year than they have been in some time.

It will be the job of Mr. Bouncer, Chandler allowed, to see that visitors to the library don't turn the scholarly surroundings into a street corner-type meeting place, a date bureau or a place to catch up on sleep or grab a bite to eat.

Now all these activities may sound a bit far-fetched for a library but if you listen to Chandler for a while, you'll learn that some people consider a library as anything BUT a library—rather they consider it a comfortable place to conduct a pot pourri of personal affairs.

SAMUEL CHANDLER NOT ONLY must visitors behave, he told the library commission, but they must be attired in "proper" clothes.

When you think about it for a moment, just what may be considered "proper" attire for visiting a public place such as a library should be obvious to most people.

But apparently it isn't. Chandler recalled one day last year when a girl came into the Westlake branch of the library dressed in a mu-mu, which in and of itself wasn't too unusual.

But after plumping herself down into a chair, she proceeded to unbutton the mu-mu to reveal a bathing suit underneath that was one of those bare midriff deals.

Now a bare midriff bathing suit in a public library isn't exactly conducive to quiet concentration (on books, that is) and the result on this particular occasion was general commotion, Chandler reported.

"This sort of thing just isn't fair to those who come into the library for quiet reading," he remarked. "In fact, it discourages some people from visiting the library."

His observation was backed up by Mrs. U. R. Ken-dree, a member of the commission, who noted:

"We've run into situations where adults have told us they won't come into the library again unless they can find a chair to sit down and unless it's quiet."

Too often, she added, youths have streamed into a library, monopolized the chairs and proceeded to carry on every sort of activity but reading.

But all that should be a thing of the past if Mr. Bouncer does his job. "If he can't Chandler said 'we'll get someone who can.' And he added:

"Starting the first day of school, we've got to impress upon these young people that they must behave like ladies and gentlemen when they come into the libraries.

"They will come in and they will sit down and if they start milling around, we'll reserve the right to ask them to leave. And if they refuse, we'll notify the police."

And that, happy day, is the good word for all you readers who appreciate the sound of no sound in your libraries.

WHILE WE'RE on the subject of discipline, the libraries aren't the only institutions that will see more of it this year.

It's going to be more evident, apparently, in the schools as well—and in particular, in the schools of the Jefferson Elementary district.

Hard at work this summer have been three committees of parents, teachers and administrators, working on policies of discipline for the district.

They would serve as guidelines in keeping junior in line, both when he's in school and when he's home.

The committees are considering what they believe are the duties and responsibilities of not only teachers but the students and their parents as well.

It's not that any ambitious use of the old hickory stick is called for the way things are going in the elementary schools these days. It's just that the district believes it's a good idea to put down in writing what it can expect of students, teachers and parents.

Put another way, the district feels that the main business at hand—giving youngsters the best education possible—can be considerably enhanced if everybody involved is aware of his role in all of this.

And these rules don't include monkey business.

MOON BUSINESS—With Bayshore City securely in the fold and the former Christen Dairy ranch apparently on the way, it's beginning to look as if the county's second largest city is going celestial.

That is, Daly City will be shaped like a half moon with the Christen tract is added.

And as an added attraction, the moon will even have a man in it—Broadmoor, which has steadfastly refused to march down the center aisle and join hands with Daly City.

All of which goes to show that we really have an up-to-date, space-minded community here in the North county.

Daly City Teenagers Score in Child Play

By RON BATES

CULTURE, of sorts, has been introduced to Daly City by the Department of Recreation's teen drama summer classes.

Under the direction of San Francisco State graduate Nedra Merrick, nine Daly City teenagers made their debut on the stage at the War Memorial Community center stage in the children's play, "The King's Creampuffs," by Martha Swintz.

Was it successful? Daly City Department head Charles Vincent thinks so.

"On the basis of the success of the summer program, the department is contemplating offering a teen drama class for the rest of the year," he said.

Approximately 500 youngsters were brought in from the city's playgrounds to watch the half-hour program and from the intrigued look on their faces, the teen-age thespians had captured their interest from the moment the curtain parted.

THE COMEDY almost started off as a tragedy as over-eager actors backstage knocked over the billing sign on the left side of the stage.

Despite the ominous beginning, the young actors settled down and put on a performance that would have done honor to professionals.

As in professional stage performances, a few lines were muffed but the teen-agers covered up for one another quite adequately.

At only one point was a forgotten line obvious, in Doiron, who had the majority of the speaking lines in the play, got tangled up with words in the first act and hemmed and hawed (as good kings do when they're thinking) until someone whispered (shouted) the lines to him.

With that one exception, Doiron, who looks like and acts like a junior-sized Mickey Rooney, did a good job as the king.

Gail Land, as the Witch of All Witches, did an outstanding job and marked herself as a prospective star in future productions.

Her witch's cackle made some of the younger members of the audience quirm down in their seats.

THE OTHER characters in the play did not have the lines or the opportunity to really emote like Doiron or Miss Land, but it was evident they had worked hard and given a choice part could perform well.

Maureen Maschinot was an excellent foil for Miss Land as a sister witch.

Lor Hannigan played the princess, Brad Hansen the page, Carol Gonzales the queen, and Judy Knight the baker.

Phyllis Chiosso's 11 lines as the herald went over the head of the audience but the several park directors and adults were chuckling.

Steve McBride, whose only lines through the major part of the play were "Oh quite," handled them "quite" well.

THE TEEN class had been working on the play since the start of the Daly City summer program.

Students were taught all phases of stagecraft, including props and costumes. It was evident they learned their lessons well from Miss Merrick.

The costumes were superb. The novice actors may not win academy awards for their performances, but if they were on contracts, Vincent said after the play, "they probably would be renewed."

Deaths

Wednesday, August 28, 1963 The Post—17

Funeral services have been held for Silvio "Pat" Bollen-tini, owner of the 101 club in Colma, who died in an auto crash in Santa Cruz August 10. A lifetime resident of Colma, he was a member of the Daly City Veteran Firemen's association, BPOE of South San Francisco, the Colma Vista Grande Aerie, FOE and the Bartenders' Union, local 340. He is survived by his wife, Mamie Bollen-tini, his children David and Joseph Bollen-tini and a widow and brother, Paul Neth.

Cold Almond Chicken Idea A Natural

With chicken so reasonable in the Peninsula markets this cold cubed chicken recipe is a "natural."

Cold Almond Chicken Rolls
Frosted Cupcakes Beverages
COLD ALMOND CHICKEN
2 cups cubed cooked chicken, white meat only
1 cup diced celery
½ to ¾ cup homemade boiled salad dressing
Salt and white pepper to taste.
4 peaches
Salad greens
¼ cup salted almonds
Mix together the chicken, celery and dressing. Add salt and pepper if necessary. If prepared an hour or so before serving, cover and refrigerate. Just before serving, peel peaches and slice rather thick. Arrange salad greens on individual plates. Heap chicken salad on half of greens and overlap peach slices on other half. Sprinkle chicken with almonds. Makes 4 servings. a a

SCALLOP TIME — They have an annual summer festival dedicated to the scallop in the famous whaling village of New Bedford, Mass. Called "pearl of the Atlantic," the scallop rates high in New England cuisine. Here's "Scallops New England," which tastes just as good on the Peninsula as in the East.

Favorite New England Sea Food—the Scallop

It's been scallop festival time in New Bedford, Mass., a time when New Englanders pay special tribute to this "pearl of the Atlantic." Although scallops are available the year 'round throughout the land, summer is a time of special plentitude thanks to good fishing weather on Georges Bank, the offshore scallop grounds 150 miles east of Nantucket.

Festival goers annually consume 12,000 pounds of the succulent scallop meats (actually the adductor muscle of the mollusk which opens and closes the beautiful fan-shaped shells).

While festival patrons enjoy scallops golden fried, stay-at-homes have wide latitude in the ways they can prepare this versatile seafood. Scallops may be broiled, pan-sautéed, oven-fried or baked or they can play the feature role in a mouth-watering salad, a hearty chowder or a seafood casserole.

Here are two recipes that happily demonstrate the versatility of the scallop. Try one, or both, and imagine yourself transported to the shores of the New England coast, where the scallop reigns supreme.

FESTIVAL SCALLOPS

Dip scallops in milk, then in fine dry bread crumbs seasoned with salt and pepper. Cover the scallops evenly, shaking off excess crumbs. Pour enough corn oil into a kettle to fill it 1-3 full. Heat oil to 375 degrees. Add scallops slowly to prevent excessive overcooking. Fry only a few at a time, 2 or 3 minutes. Drain and keep warm as they are done. Serve with lemon wedges and tartare sauce.

SCALLOPS NEW ENGLAND

½ cup butter or margarine, divided
5 tablespoons minced raw spinach
2 tablespoons minced onion
3 tablespoons minced lettuce
2 tablespoons minced celery
3 tablespoons fine, dry crumbs
¼ teaspoon herb-blend for fish
½ teaspoon anchovy paste
Few grains pepper
½ teaspoon salt
36 scallops (about 3 lbs.)

Melt 5 tablespoons butter; add all remaining ingredients except scallops; mix well. Heat gently, do not let butter brown. Pace scallops on foiled broiler pan; dot with remaining butter; broil each of 6 scallop shells. Scatter spinach mixture in a hot oven.

¼ teaspoon baking soda
¼ teaspoon salt
1 egg
1 cup firmly packed dark brown sugar
1 cup buttermilk
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted and slightly cooled
½ cup coarsely broken walnuts
¼ cup raisins (preferably light)
Sift together the flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt. Beat egg slightly; add brown sugar and buttermilk; heat to combine. Stir in melted butter. Add to sifted dry ingredients; stir just enough to moisten, fold in walnuts and raisins. Turn into a greased loaf pan (9 by 5 by 3 inches). Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven 45 to 50 minutes

NEED A COUPLE of bright new party ideas? Then, here are two that you'll serve for years to come — a pair you can depend on to make your "Little Parties" so successful that your guests will clamour for seconds. Serve "Tomato Sparky," a condensed soup beverage with a hot or frosty personality, and "Hero Salad," a chef's salad in a crusty bread shell.

Hero for Entertaining Is King-Size Sandwich

When you guests clamor for seconds and beg for the recipe, you know you've got a successful menu. Here's a bright new entertaining idea guaranteed to draw such a reaction and make you the neighborhood hero. Invite your friends to a Tomato Sparky Hero Party. It's simple to prepare and yet so novel.

Buy a large French or Italian hero loaf and cut out the top crust about 3/4 deep going almost the length and width of the bread to form a basket. Fill the hero shell with your favorite salad recipe: A chunky chef salad consisting of ham, cheese, greens, scallions, cherry tomatoes, hard boiled eggs is especially good and so is a fish or poultry mixture.

Let each guest cut off his own serving—and listen to the raves. A happy partner for this hero salad is a tall frosty glass of "Tomato Sparky," an enchanting beverage made from canned condensed tomato soup and beef broth capped with a gentle dab of whipped and sour cream. So festive and easy.

Another refreshing soup beverage for dinner sipping calls for cream of chicken soup blended with lemon juice, thyme and parsley. "M'm M'm Good"

Chilled soup is always the perfect way to start a dinner. You'll

Light Whole Wheat Bread

LIGHT WHOLE WHEAT BREAD

1 package active dry yeast
1 1/4 cups warm water
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons light brown sugar
1 tablespoon dark molasses
1 tablespoon salad (not olive) oil
3 cups (about) sifted white flour
1 cup stone-ground whole wheat flour

In a large mixing bowl, sprinkle the yeast over the warm water; stir until dissolved. Stir in salt, brown sugar, molasses and salad oil; gradually stir in 2 cups of the white flour. Place the remaining white and the whole wheat flour on a pastry cloth or board; turn out yeast mixture onto flour.

be pleased to learn that both these luscious concoctions may be served either hot or cold depending upon the personal whims of your guests. To serve piping hot, just heat the soup four minutes in a saucepan. To serve it properly chilled, keep the can in the refrigerator for four hours.

Double ice cream cones dipped in sprinkles are the cool note for dessert.

TOMATO SPARKY

1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed beef broth
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed tomato soup
1 1/2 cups cans water
1-3 cup finely chopped cucumber
whipped or sour cream

In saucepan, blend soup, milk water and cucumber. Heat, stirring now and then; but do not whip or sour cream. Makes 4 servings.

Note: To serve this recipe as a cold soup, chill cans of soup in refrigerator 3 to 4 hours. Combine soups and cucumber. Serve in chilled bowls or cups. Garnish with whipped or sour cream.

CREAMY MOONDROP

1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed

cream of chicken soup
1 soup can milk
1 teaspoon lemon juice
Generous dash thyme
Minced parsley

In saucepan, blend soup, milk lemon juice and thyme. Heat, stirring now and then; but do not boil. Simmer a few minutes to blend flavors. Garnish with parsley. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Note: To serve this recipe as a cold soup, prepare as for hot soup. Place in refrigerator 4 hours or until thoroughly chilled. Serve in chilled bowls.

GREEN CLOVER

1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed

cream of celery soup
1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese, softened
1 soup can water

1-3 cup snipped watercress
In saucepan, gradually blend soup into cream cheese until smooth. Slowly stir in water; add watercress. Heat, stirring now and then. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Note: To serve this recipe as a cold soup, chill can in refrigerator 3 to 4 hours. Gradually blend soup into cream cheese until smooth. Slowly stir in ice water; add watercress. Serve in chilled bowls or cups.

Colchicum Is Post Plant of the Week

Colchicum autumnale, a bulbous-rooted perennial member of the lily family, is The Post Plant of the Week. These flowering bulbs are sometimes referred to as "Meadow Saffron" but most gardeners know them as the "Autumn Crocus" though the "crocus" belongs to the iris family.

The colchicum gets its most popular name from its habit of flowering in early autumn. Ours usually blooms in September. Although the colchicum sends up its blooms in early fall, it seldom sends up leaves until spring. Growers must wait until this spring-produced foliage dies down before they can dig and ship the bulbs. This usually happens in July with the bulbs arriving in the nurseries in August, making this month and the very early part of next month the best planting time for new bulbs. Home gardeners who must dig their colchicums should replant them immediately.

The colchicum gets its name from the ancient country of Colchica, this country is now a part of Georgia, Transcaucasia, one of the republics of the USSR, where it is native. Botanists also report it growing naturally in parts of Europe, Northern Africa and Asia Minor. Some of our early garden books speak of the colchicum as an herb whose seeds and bulb produced a medicine used in the treatment of gout. They also state that poisoning by this drug was not uncommon.

Some 50 or more varieties of colchicum are known. Ours are a white form that grows some 10 inches high and opens to a width of six to seven inches. It is a Dutch hybrid introduction, quite an improvement on the original species both in flower form and size. The Dutch have done a lot of work on the colchicum and it is mostly bulbs of their hybrids that are found in our local nurseries.

PLANT OF THE WEEK is the early fall-blooming Colchicum autumnale. Dutch bulbs planted now will bloom in a few weeks and carry on for years without replanting.

Colchicum bulbs are so anxious to bloom that they have a difficult time waiting to be planted. This is the reason they should be hurried into the soil. They are most effective in masses, which may be established by close planting, or by patiently waiting a few years. They are excellent for the rock garden, for positions of light shade in front of a shrubby border or as a circlet at the base of a tree. The bulbs should be planted in a rich, loamy soil that is well drained but stays a little on the moist side. Set the bulbs so their tops will be covered with about three inches of soil. Given this type of planting the colchicums may be left alone for many years, or until the planting becomes overly thick and flowering is lessened.

Keep in mind, the colchicum needs all the nourishment it can get from its leaves in order for the bulbs to develop blooms for the next flowering. Let the leaves mature until they are dry and brown. Let any seed pods ripen also, for colchicums can be multiplied both by seed and by the multiplying bulbs. It sometimes takes the seed two years to germinate but when it falls in among the planting the time element is not so important.

The new Dutch hybrids offer some named varieties in addition to white, and a range of colors through lavender and orchid to deep purple. They do quite well in a pot and the bloom develops so rapidly they delight both children and adults.

Garden Editor Discusses Her Historic Williamsburg Tour

By IVA NEWMAN

Colonial Williamsburg is an "Outdoor Museum" of the early life and times of the United States. We visited this historic city on our return from touring the gardens of Europe and Scandinavia. Denmark, Sweden and Norway had these "Outdoor Museums" that depicted the early homes of their peoples. Some of these homes were reconstructed but some, like those in Williamsburg, were restored originals.

This early Colonial city is nearly a mile in length and includes 83 original buildings and houses which have been restored to their former appearance. In addition, 48 important eighteenth-century structures and many small out-buildings have been reconstructed on their original foundations, following the most careful research. In addition there are more than 90 acres of gardens and "greens" (open areas planted with grass and a few trees.)

John D. Rockefeller Jr., and Dr. W. A. R. Goodwin, rector of Bruton Parish church, shared the broad vision which inspired the restoration of Williamsburg. For more than 30 years from its inception in 1926, Rockefeller devoted personal attention to the restoration and contributed all the funds necessary to its accomplishment.

Today, all income from the exhibition buildings, craft shops, hotels, cafeteria, eighteenth-century taverns, Craft House, and the Williamsburg Theatre is used to maintain Colonial Williamsburg and carry forward its educational program for present and future Americans.

Free Bus Service
Usually all tours start at the Information center where tickets to the various houses may be purchased and where a free motion picture, "Williamsburg—the Story of a Patriot," provides a fascinating introduction to the colonial life of that area. Free transit buses leave the Information center every few minutes and circle the historic area, stopping near all exhibition buildings and other points of interest.

However, my tour started with the gardens as my time was limited to a single day. My hostesses, Mrs. Frederic Heutte, wife of the director of the Norfolk Botanical Garden, and Mrs. Virginia R. Holmes, Williamsburg Garden authority and secretary of the nationally important Williamsburg Garden Symposium which takes place early each spring, (March 15-20, 1964), briefed me on the historical background of both plants and gardens as we walked over the area that George Washington and Thomas Jefferson knew so well.

Being fresh from England and boxwood edged English gardens, we realized how much the colonists had copied from their homeland, as we noted the great amount of dwarf boxwood used in Williamsburg gardens. We also noted that the boxwood edgings and hedges were trimmed narrow at the top in the latest approved manner. Mrs. Holmes assured us that many references were found on this type of hedge pruning. Our forefathers must have known, as good gardeners do today, that sloping the cut in at the top allows more light to reach the lower part of the hedge plants and thus bare stems are avoided. She also explained adventure offered in magazines of the time, imported box "for edging walks."

Live Oaks

We were surprised to hear Mrs. Holmes call the beautiful big oak trees on one of the "greens" we crossed, "Live Oaks." We had forgotten for the moment that the term "live" was given these Virginia oaks because they were evergreen. When men moved west and found evergreen oaks growing in California they borrowed the Virginia name for them, thus we have "California Live Oaks." The leaves on our Coastal Live Oak are quite a bit smaller, more round and much more holly-like. We also have the "Canyon Live Oak" with leaves about the size of our Coastal Live Oak but a lighter green and less sharply toothed.

The "Paper Mulberry," Broussonetia papyrifera, seemed to be quite popular with the early settlers as we saw several in the gardens at Williamsburg. We also saw a number of these trees in Japan last year for it is native there. The inner bark of this mulberry tree is used by the Japanese to make paper for lanterns and umbrellas, thus giving the tree its common name. Thomas Jefferson must have got the trees from England as his garden notes mention that he had it in his garden. We also grow this tree in California and it is highly recommended for poor soils. The leaves of this tree have two forms, the junior leaves are lobed similar to a fig leaf while the adult leaves are heart shaped. This tree is used as an ornament only as it bears no fruit.

The "green" in front of the governor's palace is lined on each side with Catalpa trees. These are the common, southern catalpa, native to the Gulf states.

Perennial Border Is Attractive

Gardeners who like growing things from seed can get more than their money's worth by sowing perennials this month. By fall they will have more than enough seedlings to plant a perennial border for next spring that will produce for many springs thereafter.

Experienced nurserymen suggest that beginners stick with a few easy-to-grow perennials, as perennials are generally a bit more difficult to work with than annuals. Such things as delphinium, primrose, columbine and gaillardia come fairly easily from seed, and you can try the Transvaal Daisy, that tall, wonderfully colorful aristocrat from South Africa. When you have mastered the art of fertilizing these in flats, you can branch out from there to more difficult perennials.

You might think, if you are used to growing annuals from seed, that the perennial seed you sow is never going to sprout. Some take several weeks to break the surface and push up their first leaves. They appear in time, and later you will agree that the wait was worth it.

Daly City Places in S.F. Show

The Daly City Garden club took a fourth place in the outdoor garden competitions at the San Francisco Flower show in the Hall of Flowers at Golden Gate park last week.

The club's "Oriental Garden" scored 95 points out of a possible 100.

The Bonsai society of San Francisco took first with its entry entitled "Garden of Tranquility." Chairman of the Daly City garden committee was Mrs. William G. Huston Jr. She was assisted by her husband, who is club president, and Mrs. Joseph Kubser.

The club used a bamboo gate as an entrance to a pathway of water-washed rock. The path led off to one side.

Pink azaleas were used to predominate the coloring of the garden.

Two white porcelain cranes were set in what would normally be a pool or running stream. A large dwarf pine was one of the featured focal points of the garden.

Garden Unit Plans Meeting

The Daly City Garden club will hold its first meeting of the new year at the War Memorial Community center Coral room at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, according to President William G. Huston Jr.

Mrs. John H. Smith of the San Francisco Begonia society will speak "On Begonias." Mrs. Smith is a noted authority having won several awards and serving as judge in several flower competitions.

The club will meet every first Tuesday of the month.

Mrs. Ward McLeod and Mrs. P. B. Smith will serve as hostesses.

SUMMER GARDENS

Hints Offered For Mid-Season

Rolling lawns are beautiful to look at when they are green but too often the sloping sections are so difficult to water they spoil the view with brown spots. One of the best solutions is a plastic or canvas soaker that dispenses water so slowly that it sinks in before it can run off. These must be left running for several hours in order for them to let enough water out to properly soak the soil. Our friend in Norfolk, Va., has set up mist sprinklers to take care of the watering on his sloping areas and they work fine. Then, there is the old trick of turning the water on for five or ten minutes then off for an hour and on again for another five minutes. This has to be kept up until a soil test shows moisture to the required depth.

Rose Watering

Watering is the number one requirement for roses at this time. If they got a little dry while you were on vacation, they will bounce back if you will get them back on a regular watering program. The soil around roses should be wet at least a foot deep every time you water. If possible, shape large soil basins around the base of each rose plant to catch the water and direct it down where it is needed. The hose can be left to run with a small stream of water into the basin until it stays full for ten minutes or so. Roses need an application of fertilizer now, the last application for this year, in order to produce a good fall crop of bloom.

Chrysanthemums

Now is about the last opportunity to feed chrysanthemums. These stunning fall flowers are gross feeders so a good, husky helping of liquid fish fertilizer can be given every three weeks until the buds show color. Feed-bulbs.

Club Opens Gardens for Public View

Seven members of the Daly City Garden club will open their gates to public viewing Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m., according to club president William G. Huston Jr.

There is no admission charge.

In the Westlake area gardens will be on display at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ramos, 40 Fairmont drive; Mr. and Mrs. William G. Huston Jr., 47 Fairmont drive; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Masters Jr., 75 Garden Grove and Mr. and Mrs. James M. Susoeff, 269 Palisades drive.

In other parts of the city gardens will be on display at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kubser, 60 Werner avenue, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Dunow, 532 Atlanta street, and Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hargrove, 107 Village lane.

HOMES & GARDENS

these colorful little plants in bloom, or about to bloom, in many local nurseries. They transplant easily and the plants make little tubers which, if planted next spring will produce another mass of color for 1964.

Fuchsias

Everyone saw the beautiful and colorful exhibits of fuchsias at the recent Fiesta that were created out of potted plants. The local nurseries have a wide variety of fuchsias flowering in containers now. They have them in hanging baskets, small pots, or larger containers trained up a center stake. These are quite inexpensive, too, when you consider the time and material involved in bringing them to this peak of perfection.

Betty Sedam's Caravan Inn Show a Monday Must

Big things in store at the Caravan Inn — down Mountain View way — last Monday, August 26, when General Manager Betty Sedam premeared her new show. Caught at a preview rehearsal session, last week, and met song stylists Patti and "Mac" MacDonald, who have entertained in most of the big supper clubs on the Eastern circuit, as well as on the West Coast. "Mac" is a master on the reeds and drums; Patti makes the "88's" behave in real musical fashion as she sings tunes that keep your feet tapping. Patti's "Don't Take Your Love From Me" as a heart flipper. Also featured on the show bill is Evana, a miniature package of sex appeal (100 pounds, 4 ft., 10 in.) who "explodes" with musical talent on Italian, French, and American songs. Evana's gowns are of Paris design—and she has the face and figure to match their elegance. Entertainment Monday through Saturday, 9 p.m. to 1:30 a.m. Breakfast, lunch and dinner served seven nights a week.

Betty Sedam

HONG KONG CANTONESE gourmet dishes are yours for the ordering at Kan's at the Hyatt House. Over 80 selections from which to choose. With the weather being at a temperature high, why bother to cook at home. However, if circumstances prevent this, phone Keith's Burlingame Chicken "cass." He will prepare a complete dinner for you—from salad to mints—and have it ready for pick up. Counter, booths, formal dining room, and banquet service at Bruno Scatena's Joe's of Westlake. Pianobar entertainment in the center of busy Westlake. After hearing Keely Smith at the Fairmont Hotel, Jimmie and Rich Romanelli plan to add all her records in their Morocco Room juke box. Lee Hester and the Astronauts play for dancing Wednesday through Saturday.

The Lanai has many beverages for your choosing. One that is sure to give you a "lift" is called a "Sidevinder's Fang." Wow! Almost everyone enjoys a delicious prime rib dinner, and my suggestion to you is to try Walter's. Tonight's the night. One of the many conveniences for those having breakfast, lunch or dinner at the Hillsdale Farmers Market is the abundance of parking space. Last you forget: This is a seven-days-a-week restaurant operation; 8 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. service on Sundays.

Enrico Romano is getting mighty political minded — and it wouldn't surprise me if this popular restaurateur "runs" for something more than a bus in the near future.

HANDSOME VICTOR BUELNA has returned to Luz Garcia's Sinaloa in a new role, that of master of ceremonies—and he's performing a very creditable job. Armando Duval, the regular Sinaloa "patter master," is vacationing in his native Mazatlan. Customers are taking advantage of the "never a cover charge for diners" policy from 6 p.m. until 2 a.m., Monday through Saturday. Three floor shows nightly; dancing to Sam Segaves and his orchestra. Bodee "Pioneer Hotel" Cominolli's niece, Virginia Cheney of Pittsburg, won herself a scholarship to Sacred Heart School in Menlo Park. In honor of the occasion, Miss Cominolli hosted the family to a Sunday Pioneer Hotel dinner. Two of the nicest people I know: Joanne and Nick Mantzoros, who put in their working hours under the roof of Victor's thriving Italian and Seafood restaurant. Joanne assists in the hosting, and "Big Nick," as his friends call him, is the night chef. Our first meeting was when I ordered ham and eggs on a busy Friday night, P. S.: He converted me to broiled salmon almost immediately. Gaylord and Holiday ("The Gaylords") continue to keep Oakland's Holiday Inn a thriving entertainment attraction in the Den of the Red Lion. Well known for their many Mercury recordings, the Gaylords are considered one of the nation's top song and comedy duos. The Lee Charlton Quintet backs the show and plays for dancing.

"Big hearted" Barney O'Malley, the Lake Tahoe (South Shore), Nevada, Barney's Casino owner, is proud to announce that since opening his new second-level "O'Houlihan's Hideout," patrons are packing it every day. The new room includes another restaurant (free coffee served 24 hours a day), bar and everything that goes to make Nevada famous.

FOR A PICTURE of culinary contentment, Karl Resch, the Cafe del Rio in Almaden prepares a special salad that comes under the heading of one of the best you'll ever taste. Ronnie Lehr, wife of Steakery man Phil Lehr, is proud as a peacock. The Carolands Garden Club, Ronnie Lehr, president, won first prize for rock gardens at the San Mateo Floral Fiesta. Everyone is real happy, except Phil. Ronnie has him duplicating the garden at their Hillsborough home. Those planning to attend the Monterey Jazz Festival, Sept. 20-21-22, can easily find immediate housing by writing the Monterey Peninsula Chamber of Commerce, Box 489, Monterey, phone 375-2252. A $10 deposit mailed in with particulars regarding price and location, will obtain a hotel-motel reservation for any festival guest. Bert Pearl, Russ Spalding, and Augie Orlando (The Continentals) are a smash attraction at the Blue Peacock Restaurant in Kings Bowl. Dancing Wednesday through Saturday, 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Fannie Torres is sporting another attractive "space" hair style — and she's just the one who can do it. Right? Menu tip at the Half Moon Bay Inn: Lobster tails. Dining room is not open Tuesdays; bar service from 6 a.m. to 2 a.m., seven days a week. Movie stars have a habit of making the Hyatt House Hotel their port of call when visiting the Bay Area. With the airport being so handy, many fly their own planes (Danny Kaye, to mention only one).

WHAT'S THIS I HEAR ABOUT MARY ANN HAY, the vocalist at Nick's Pacifica restaurant, singing Hawaiian songs, instead of the "Bill Bailey" variety? Come to think of it, Nick's would be an ideal place to hold a luau with all the Polynesian trimmings. There's a special breakfast treat for "kids" of all ages at the Sky Deck restaurant. This "kid" favors the corned beef hash and poached egg. Fashion shows at the Villa Chartier are presented each Thursday from 12:30 p.m. by Miss D's of San Carlos. Stop by, enjoy luncheon and the style show of tomorrow. Stan Marcus, bar manager at Low Lehr's, has a golf "feud" with Boss Lew. Late, he's had a bad slice, so he changed his contact lenses — and it worked. Stan no longer has slice, but he has a bad hook. The Goofers, starring Jimmie Dell, one of the Mary Ann Hay wildest music, song and comedy groups around, are now headlining at the click new Galaxie on San Francisco's Broadway.

CHEF TED NEWBURG is the new kitchen master at Earl's "House of Fine Food." His culinary reputation is well established on the Peninsula. South San Francisco Holiday Inn offers 24-hour dining; ditto, room accommodations. If you want banjo entertainment at its best pickin', stop in Geary Leason's Big Al's Gasbouse and lend an ear to Dean Batchelor's strummings any Tuesday, Thursday, or Saturday evening. Chef Tom Delano is the gent who plans the very selective Benjamin Franklin Hotel menu. Believe me, this is a very important job—especially when you also oversee the preparation of each dish. Brentwood Lodge is a natural for before-plane-time dining. It's just a 10-minute drive from the International Airport and only 15 minutes from downtown San Francisco or San Mateo. Danilo's will be closed until September 3.

LEGAL NOTICE
NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS
1. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Board of Supervisors of the County of San Mateo, State of California, will receive sealed bids for the furnishing of all materials and labor necessary for the construction of CHILDREN'S DAY CARE CENTER building on Polhemus Road, North of Ralston Road, San Mateo County, for the County of San Mateo, State of California.
2. Each bid shall be in accordance with drawings, specifications, and contract documents prepared hereunder now on file with the Purchasing Agent, County of San Mateo, Courthouse, Redwood City, California.
3. Drawings, specifications, and contract documents may be examined and copies obtained at the office of the County Purchasing Agent, Redwood City, California, on or before the 17th day of SEPTEMBER, 1963, at 10:00 A.M. and will be opened in public in the Chambers of said Board of Supervisors at or about 10:00 A.M. of that day in said Hall of Justice and Records, Redwood City, California.
4. A complete set of drawings, specifications and contract documents may be examined at the Office of the San Mateo County Director of Building Construction, Hall of Justice and Records, Redwood City, California.
5. Bidders are responsible to see that they obtain a complete set of plans, specifications and contract documents covering the work upon which they submit a bid.
6. Bids shall be submitted upon proposal forms furnished and bound in the specifications and shall be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check or bid bond for 10% of the amount of the bid as noted in said General Conditions.
7. Bids shall be sealed and filed with the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors of the County of San Mateo at the Hall of Justice and Records, Redwood City, California, on or before the 17th day of SEPTEMBER, 1963, at 10:00 A.M. and will be opened in public in the Chambers of said Board of Supervisors at or about 10:00 A.M. of that day in said Hall of Justice and Records, Redwood City, California.
8. The Board of Supervisors of the County of San Mateo, State of California, reserves the right to reject any and all bids, alternate bids, or unit prices, and may waive any irregularities in any bid received.
9. No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of thirty days after the date set for the opening thereof.
10. Bidders are hereby notified that pursuant to the Statutes of the State of California, or local law thereto applicable, the Board of Supervisors has ascertained the general prevailing rate of per diem wages and rates for legal holidays and overtime work in the locality in which this work is being performed, for each craft or type of workman or mechanic needed to execute this contract which will be awarded the successful bidder.
11. It shall be mandatory upon the Contractor, and upon any subcontractors under him, to pay not less than the said specific rates to all laborers, workmen or mechanics employed by them in the execution of the Contract.
12. The prevailing rates so determined are as follows and are based on an 8 hour day, 40 hour week as noted. Existing agreements between the Building Trades and the Construction Industry groups relative to overtime, holidays and other special provisions shall be recognized.
LOCAL LABOR:
13. It is the policy of the Owner that Contractors on public projects employ their workmen and craftsmen from the local labor market whenever possible. Consistent with that policy the Contractor is requested to employ his craftsmen and other workers from the local labor market whenever possible to do so. "Local Labor Market" within the meaning of this section is defined as the labor market within the geographical confines of the County of San Mateo, State of California.
WAGE RATES:
14. The Board of Supervisors has determined the rate of prevailing wages in the locality in which the work is to be performed for each craft or type of workman or mechanic needed to perform the contract. Said prevailing rates are set forth below:

	PER HOUR
CRAFT	$4.85
Carpenter	4.10
